Venice, Florence 'Disaster Cities' As Floods Recede

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The waters of the worst floods in Florence and Venice since the Middle Ages receded today, leaving the two museum cities blackened with mud and without vital public services.

Thousands of rescue workers struggled through sludge dotted with debris and stained with fuel oil. Streets became bogs and buildings were coated with mud below the second-floor level.

As the Arno River settled back into its bed at Florence and Adriatic Sea waters flowed out of Venice, other Italian cities remained inundated or became flooded.

African Row Marks Start Of Summit

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Africa's annual summit conference meets today with a bitter dispute between Ghana and Guinea threatening one of the biggest rows in the troubled three-year history of the Organization of African Unity.

Ghana detained 19 Guineans in transit through Accra on their way to the preliminary Council of Ministers meeting here a week ago. Ghana insists it will release them only when nearly 100 Ghanaians allegedly held in Guinea are released.

A three-nation OAU mission, which flew to Accra and Conakry to try to resolve the dispute, has met with no apparent success.

All hope of unanimity at the conference was wrecked by the Accra incident.

After a year that has seen the OAU torn by dissension over Rhodesia, distracted by military coups and shaken almost apart by the overthrow of former Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, the African leaders had hoped the summit would restore some order to their ragged ranks.

The weeklong ministerial council meeting which was to prepare the way for the summit meeting has demonstrated more dissension than unity.

African ministers from 33 countries — newly independent Lesotho and Botswana are the latest OAU members — squabbled bitterly over almost every issue.

The heads of state are to convene this evening with their ministers still having failed to approve a Rhodesia policy.

The likely outcome at this stage would appear to be another resolution condemning Britain for failing to use force in Rhodesia.

U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant, in a message prepared for the opening of the summit meeting, urged the African leaders to find peaceful solutions to their problems.

He told the OAU that world peace required "urgent international action" on the problems of South-West Africa, race discrimination in South Africa, colonialism in Portuguese African territories and the Rhodesian situation. But, he cautioned, the solutions "will have to be peaceful."

Cuban Group Seeks Political Asylum

PARIS (AP) — Ten members of the Cuban National Ballet company have asked for political asylum in France, police said today.

Nine dancers showed up at the prefecture of police this morning asking permission to stay in France. A 10th made the same request several days ago, police said.

David Lawrence, Democrat Party Leader, Stricken

PITTSBURGH (AP) — David L. Lawrence, Democratic kingpin whose behind-the-scenes power helped elect presidents, lingered near death today after suffering a heart attack while addressing a political rally.

Lawrence, 77, former governor of Pennsylvania, was in critical condition in Presbyterian University Hospital.

He slumped to the floor before an audience of some 3,000 Friday night just as he was starting a speech at a Democratic rally in Pittsburgh's Syria Mosque.

The lecturer toppled across his chest. Associates rushed to his side as the audience fell into a stunned silence.

Perhaps the greatest achievement of Lawrence's long political career was his considerable role in delivering Pennsylvania to the late President John F. Kennedy in 1960.

WHAT A WAY TO RUN A RAILROAD — The city fathers in Booneville, Miss., were supposed to have that utility pole taken out for this new railroad spur, but when the road builders got there, it hadn't been. They went ahead anyhow.

We Depend on Services

(An Editorial)

The voting public's decision Tuesday on a one-mill tax renewal will have an important bearing on future services the City of Circleville will be able to provide.

The levy is a renewal, not a new tax, that supplements the city's general fund. It would produce an estimated $31,000 annually for a period of three years.

Money derived from the levy helps provide many services offered by the city, including police and fire protection.

Circleville, like any other city, depends heavily on the numerous safeguards that only police and fire departments can furnish. Any reduction in these services means a community is falling behind.

Yet this decrease in protection standards could be the case here if the one-mill renewal fails.

Our police and fire departments are operating at absolute minimums in manpower and pay scale now. Further cutbacks could be disastrous.

Renewal of the levy would cost taxpayers 10 cents for each $100 of valuation. We feel passage would be a vote of confidence in our policemen, firemen and other city employees. We hope the citizens of Circleville feel the same way.

Democrats Seek To Refute GOP's Inflation Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — A remark by President Johnson unearthed today a quietly circulated political document designed to refute Republican charges that Democrats are to blame for inflation.

"Prices have increased less in the six years of the Kennedy-Johnson administration than they did the previous six years in the Eisenhower administration," Johnson said at his news conference Friday.

He didn't go into details, adding only that wages have risen much more under the Democrats than the Republicans.

But Johnson's brief comments were only the tip of the iceberg from an administration position paper bulging with economic comparisons between the Eisenhower and Kennedy-Johnson eras.

The paper has a highly political tone and was drafted weeks ago as rising prices, interest rates and other inflationary trends resulted in criticism of the Johnson administration.

As originally drafted, the paper said: "The economic boom America has enjoyed during the first 68 months of the current Democratic administration is in sharp contrast with the economic lag of the final 68 months of the previous Republican administration."

Johnson, updating the figures, used a six-year period in his comparison although the time covered is actually three months short at 69 months.

The paper says living costs measured in the government's consumer price index went up 11.5 per cent under Eisenhower and 9.9 per cent under Kennedy-Johnson.

The economic position paper as originally drafted said: "A good way to check how the cost of living is moving in America is to figure how long you've got to work to pay for something."

For the typical factory worker, it said, "in 1966 it takes four hours less of his working time per week to pay for the things he needs and uses than it did in 1960."

Citing an example, the paper says it now takes a worker 28.5 weeks to earn enough money to buy a new car, compared with 28.5 weeks in 1960.

Pitched Battles Erupt On Cambodian Border

LBJ, Defense Chief Discuss Money, Troops

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, holding some of the keys to a possible wartime tax increase, discusses defense spending and Viet Nam troop needs with President Johnson today at the President's ranch.

The Texas White House said Johnson wanted to meet with McNamara to review the Manila conference, to talk about diplomatic efforts to arrange a Viet Nam peace and to consider the most recent reports from Gen. William C. Westmoreland, U. S. commander in the war-torn country.

Westmoreland's requests for additional troops, and the war's impact on defense outlays, seemed certain to dominate the conversation, however.

Johnson has said repeatedly, most recently at his news conference Friday, that McNamara's efforts to hold down military spending, despite the war, will play a big part in the tax decision.

Another element is the level of appropriations passed by the now-adjoined Congress, a matter which Johnson said is being studied. The state of the economy is a third factor, and that seems to be heading in a direction that makes a tax hike less likely.

Westmoreland told the Manila conference that more U. S. troops will be needed in Viet Nam. As is his custom, Johnson said such requests will be considered as they reach his desk — and that the nation will apply such force as is deemed necessary to stand by the forces already on the scene.

The President will be at his ranch, some 80 miles north of here, for at least several weeks. His doctors have urged him to rest before surgery to remove a polyp growth from one vocal chord and to repair a hernia that has popped through the incision made during his gall bladder operation a year ago.

Doctors are expected to operate before Thanksgiving.

Meredith Vows He'll Lead Drive In Mississippi

DETROIT (AP) — James H. Meredith vowed Friday night to go back to Mississippi to demonstrate for civil rights and lead a Negro voter registration drive.

Meredith, 32, wounded by a gunshot at the start of a 220-mile march last June 6, said Mississippi "and what it symbolizes — white supremacy — is my unfinished business."

"As long as white supremacy reigns, me and my kind have no real chance in this country," Meredith said. "As long as it rules, I cannot be at peace."

Meredith, the first person to enroll as a Negro at the University of Mississippi, said in an interview his plans are not complete and he does not know exactly what he will do in Mississippi or when he will do it. It will begin next summer, he said.

Pravda Calls For Withdrawal

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party paper Pravda called today for all people to unite and increase their efforts to end the Viet Nam war and get American troops withdrawn immediately from South Viet Nam.

The demand for a U. S. troop withdrawal, long standard in Soviet statements on Viet Nam, was not included last Tuesday in brief remarks on Viet Nam by the Communist party's general secretary, Leonid I. Brezhnev.

Seek Sheppard Trial Speed-Up

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Special half-day session of Samuel H. Sheppard's second-degree murder retrial was called today, after which his jury went into seclusion for its first week-end under guard.

In an obvious move to speed up the trial, ending its second week, Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty ordered the seven men and five women on the panel to sit in an unusual Saturday morning court session.

Jury members have been locked up nightly since last Tuesday, the day after they were sworn in. By contrast, Sheppard is out on bond and free to come and go as he pleases within the court jurisdiction.

Robert F. Schottke, veteran homicide detective, completed his testimony Friday. On call behind him are other police and medical witnesses for the state.

Introduced as evidence Friday was part of a nine-page statement Sheppard voluntarily gave police and sheriff's deputies in the presence of an attorney on July 10, 1954.

A portion of the statement was read in the courtroom after private consultation between the judge and the prosecution and defense that extended over four hours.

Deleted was a reference to a theory Sheppard advanced then that Marilyn may have been slain by a spurned "potential lover." In a portion of the statement read by prosecutor John T. Corrigan, the defendant denied having a love affair with Miss Susan Hayes, then 24 and

Nazi Leader Who Spared Paris Dead

BADEN-BADEN, Germany (AP) — Former Gen. Dietrich von Choltitz, 71, the Wehrmacht leader who defied Adolf Hitler's orders in World War II to destroy Paris, died at a hospital here today.

Hospital officials said Von Choltitz, last commandant of the Nazi-occupied French capital, had succumbed after a long illness.

The ex-general had been living a secluded life here with his family. For a long time he had been better known abroad than in Germany, but a best-selling book and a recent movie — "Is Paris Burning?" — put the spotlight on him.

Wehrmacht records cited him for bravery in Poland, the blitzkrieg invasion of France and the conquest of the Soviet fortress of Sevastopol on the Crimean peninsula. But the feat which earned him real fame — the saving of Paris — meant years of ostracism for him in Germany, where the Nazis had branded him a traitor.

'Peaceful' U.N. Assembly Passes Halfway Mark Today

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. General Assembly passed the halfway mark today of a session notable for its rare atmosphere of East-West harmony.

The Soviet Union, apparently anxious to avoid any hitch that might hold up the signing of treaties on halting the spread of nuclear weapons and the peaceful use of outer space, has been restrained in its approach to all issues.

Even the annual debate on disarmament, usually the spring board for a Soviet tirade against the United States, generated little heat. In his opening speech on the arms question, Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko devoted only a paragraph to Viet Nam and this appeared to be a token gesture.

At one point in the debate, William C. Foster, U.S. chief

Reds Deliver Vicious Blows At Yank Force

Link Sheriff With Rackets

SAIGON (AP) — Communist troops counter attacked viciously today against a large American infantry force that had overrun enemy bunkers in the canopied jungles near Cambodia as the battle for Tay Ninh Province entered its third day.

Pitched battles have erupted in three places in the past three days in the province which borders Cambodia and serves as a main infiltration route into the heart of Viet Nam.

The pattern of enemy attacks indicated a whole Communist division may be engaged.

In the air war over North Viet Nam, two more U.S. war planes were downed Friday, bringing the total reported lost in the north to 413, a U.S. spokesman said.

There was no letup in the Tay Ninh fighting today, a spokesman said. Several battalions of American infantrymen holding the Communist bunker complex they overran Friday were attacked six times this morning and early afternoon.

A civilian irregular defense force comprised mainly of Nung tribesmen and their American officers was still fighting for its life to the west.

U.S. spokesmen said "multi-brigades" of Americans are now involved in the Tay Ninh fighting. This could be as many as 10,000 infantrymen.

There was speculation in Saigon that the Communist thrust in Tay Ninh, first detected Thursday when an "eagle flight" of helicopter-borne troops from the U.S. 25th Division spotted Communist troops in bivouac, might be the much-rumored attempt to score a victory against American forces prior to the Nov. 8 elections in the United States.

Eight U.S. servicemen perished and 14 others were injured Friday night in a flash fire aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt off North Viet Nam. A Navy spokesman said the fire caused no function.

Powell Arrest Warrant Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — An arrest order for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, sentenced to 30 days in jail for criminal contempt of court, must wait to be issued until after Tuesday's election.

Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levy, who found the Harlem Democrat guilty on two contempt counts Friday, ordered the temporary delay. Powell faces only token opposition from three candidates.

There was speculation from legal experts, however, that Powell could not be arrested outside the state and forced to begin serving the term. His whereabouts were uncertain.

The sentence grew out of Powell's five-year fight to avoid paying a $162,000 libel judgment he owes a Harlem widow. On a television program, Powell called her a "bag woman" or graft collector for corrupt police.

Venice, Florence 'Disaster Cities' As Floods Recede

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The waters of the worst floods in Florence and Venice since the Middle Ages receded today, leaving the two museum cities blackened with mud and without vital public services.

Thousands of rescue workers struggled through sludge dotted with debris and stained with fuel oil. Streets became bogs and buildings were coated with mud below the second-floor level.

As the Arno River settled back into its bed at Florence and Adriatic Sea waters flowed out of Venice, other Italian cities remained inundated or became flooded.

Landslides, violent winds and floods part of a huge storm that battered all Western Europe — took more than 40 lives in Italy alone.

The U.S. Embassy in Rome said it had no information about Americans in the flooded areas but added that there was no indication so far that any foreigners were among the victims.

In southern Austria, floods killed at least 11 persons. Dozens were missing and feared dead in the European storm and hundreds were injured. Destruction was incalculable.

As the floods began ebbing at dawn, authorities in Florence, the Renaissance art center of 450,000, and Venice began adding up what they feared was immense and irreparable damage to priceless cultural relics.

Some 50,000 relief workers, aided by dry weather after almost two days of rain, joined local volunteers to aid more than 100,000 Italians left homeless. The storm struck especially hard at north and central Italy.

Eduardo Cesario, a Florence bank clerk, said the city was standing in so much water that "as I looked down at Florence from a hillside, I thought I was seeing the Grand Canal of Venice."

Grosseto, a coastal city of 47,000 south of Florence, was covered by up to nine feet of water. Its only link outside was an airport, to which bread was being flown from other cities.

Trento in the north was hit by fresh floods overnight. They caused chemical explosions in vacant industrial plants, interrupted electrical power and cut the drinking water supply.

Firemen rescued 150 children isolated at a nursery school by the Tagliamento River in northern Italy. The river forced evacuation of 10 communities.

Roads and rail links were impassable all across Italy, almost cutting the north from the south. Trains from Milan to Rome followed a route of more than 800 miles, double the normal distance, weaving back and forth across the country to avoid flooded areas.

Two-thirds of Florence's area was under 6 to 10 feet of water from the Arno River. Many families forced out of first-floor flats were unable to get to shelter in public buildings and spent a chilly night on their roofs.

The first floor of the famed Uffizi Gallery was inundated. Unconfirmed reports said more than 8,000 paintings kept in the basement were damaged. Water endangered the famous Fra Angelico frescoes in St. Mark's Monastery and poured into the Florence Cathedral.

Parked cars floated down streets, crashing into buildings. Floods invaded vineyards around Florence, home of the famous chianti wines. The grape harvest ended about a month ago but damage to vines and fruit trees was believed vast.

At least six persons lost their lives in floods or landslides in the northern Alpine region around Trent, where the weather was reported worsening.

Deep snow closed many Alpine passes. Three hundred persons, mostly skiers, were reported stranded in the Stelvio Pass leading to Switzerland.

Mother Slain, Wounded Son Crawls for Aid

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A 12-year-old boy, bleeding from numerous stab wounds, crawled onto a neighbor's front porch and cried for help here early today after seeing his mother stabbed to death police said.

Mrs. Regina Shears, 35, ex-wife of a former Akron policeman, was found dead of stab wounds in her home.

Authorities said her son, Eric, and another son, Mark, 9, awoke to hear their mother's screams for help. The boys rushed downstairs and saw a man stabbing her repeatedly.

The boys told officers the man then turned on them attacking Eric with the knife. Police said Eric told them he was stabbed several times, escaping finally by laying still and pretending to be dead until the man left.

Authorities issued a pickup order for a 32-year-old Akron man for questioning in the case.

Powell Arrest Warrant Delayed

NEW YORK (AP) — An arrest order for Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, sentenced to 30 days in jail for criminal contempt of court, must wait to be issued until after Tuesday's election.

Supreme Court Justice Matthew M. Levey, who found the Harlem Democrat guilty on two contempt counts Friday, ordered the temporary delay. Powell faces only token opposition from three candidates.

There was speculation from legal experts, however, that Powell could not be arrested outside the state and forced to begin serving the term. His whereabouts were uncertain.

The sentence grew out of Powell's five-year fight to avoid paying a $162,000 libel judgment he owes a Harlem widow. On a television program, Powell called her a "bag woman" or graft collector for corrupt police.

African Row Marks Start Of Summit

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Africa's annual summit conference meets today with a bitter dispute between Ghana and Guinea threatening one of the biggest rows in the troubled three-year history of the Organization of African Unity.

Ghana detained 19 Guineans in transit through Accra on their way to the preliminary Council of Ministers meeting here a week ago. Ghana insists it will release them only when nearly 100 Ghanaians allegedly held in Guinea are released.

A three-nation OAU mission, which flew to Accra and Conakry to try to resolve the dispute, has met with no apparent success.

All hope of unanimity at the conference was wrecked by the Accra incident.

After a year that has seen the OAU torn by dissension over Rhodesia, distracted by military coups and shaken almost apart by the overthrow of former Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, the African leaders had hoped the summit would restore some order to their ragged ranks.

The weeklong ministerial council meeting which was to prepare the way for the summit meeting has demonstrated more disunity than unity.

African ministers from 33 countries — newly independent Lesotho and Botswana are the latest OAU members — squabbled bitterly over almost every issue.

The heads of state are to convene this evening with their ministers still having failed to approve a Rhodesia policy.

The likely outcome at this stage would appear to be another resolution condemning Britain for failing to use force in Rhodesia.

U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, in a message prepared for the opening of the summit meeting, urged the African leaders to find peaceful solutions to their problems.

He told the OAU that world peace required "urgent international action" on the problems of South-West Africa, race discrimination in South Africa, colonialism in Portuguese African territories and the Rhodesian situation. But, he cautioned, the solutions "will have to be peaceful."

Handle Pesticides With Proper Care

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Now that the gardening season is about over, clean out that pesticide storage area and discard unlabeled, broken and near empty containers.

D. Lyle Goleman, Extension Agricultural Chemicals Specialist at The Ohio State University, warns that improperly disposed or stored pesticides can be serious hazards to children, pets, livestock, valuable plants, fish or wild life.

Some volatile weed killers such as 2, 4-D and similar herbicides combined with other wettable powders, dusts or seeds shouldn't be stored, Goleman says.

If you have some leftover pesticides that belong in that category, bury them in an isolated area. A sanitary land-fill dump where refuse is regularly covered with soil is best, according to Goleman.

NEVER drain sprayers near a well, pond or stream, and don't dump pesticides into a sewage system or street gutter. Be sure to dispose of pesticides and their containers where soils, crops, water or animals won't become contaminated.

If you must store several pesticides, make sure they're in the original, labeled containers — never in food or drink containers. For example, every year accidental poisonings are the result of small children drinking from a soft drink bottle filled with a toxic liquid.

Pesticide storage areas should be secure from children, irresponsible persons, pets and livestock. Never put pesticides in the medicine cabinet, under the kitchen sink, or in similar areas accessible to small children.

Storage spot should be dry, well ventilated area away from food, feed, or seeds. Keep liquid pesticides in heated areas to prevent freezing. Be sure caps are secure on bottles or cans and check regularly for possible leakage.

The family worked all night to rebuild a structure that would provide for their needs and protection during the coming winter.

But the following day their work again was destroyed and officials were called in to evict them from the vicinity.

The case is quite a rare one in Pickaway County. But it had to be met and dealt with.

The family was trespassing on the property of Clarence Maxson, Laurelville. George Reed, a Laurelville bulldozer operator, first discovered the violation.

REED had contracted to doze an open drainage ditch on the Maxson farm. On the second day of work he found water backing up into the new ditch. When he investigated he found a small, but well constructed dam across the outlet below his work site.

Reed destroyed the dam and went about his work. The next morning water was again flooding the new ditch.

On investigating he found a new structure in place of the one he had destroyed. He was convinced it had to be the work of a determined family of beavers.

It was evident to Reed that something must be done to divert the intruders. The decision was made to call in Rodney Swagler of the Ohio Division of Wildlife.

The matter has been left to Swagler to trap the family of courageous beavers and move them to a more suitable building site. Perhaps they can live and work in peace and safety at their new locale.

Short Course Is Planned At Ohio State

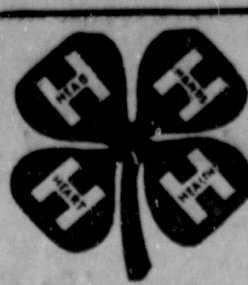

An eight - week short course, "Science and Business in Agriculture for Young Farmers" begins Jan. 3 at Ohio State University.

Alfred N. Bessenes, director of short courses and conference and Home Economics, says the sons interested in production unique program is designed to give instruction to those persons in the College of Agriculture agriculture as a career. Students must be high school graduates, or have satisfactory work experience and be at least 18 years old. Practical farm experience is desirable but not necessary.

Programs of instruction include crop production and management, beef, dairy and swine management. Faculty members of the College of Agriculture and the Vocational Agriculture Service will serve as instructors.

"If pursued intelligently, a career in production agriculture offers a secure, stable lifetime of varied experience," Bessenes says. "This short course can help young farmers reach this goal."

County Extension Agent, 4-H

Six Ohioans will join 175 of the nation's top young dairymen in Chicago December 1-3 for the 12th annual 4-H Dairy Conference.

The Ohio delegates were chosen for the trip because of their outstanding work with 4-H dairy projects. They are: Ronald Martin, Cohocton County; James Garrett, Route 3, Mt. Sterling, Pickaway County; Marcia Funderburg, Clark County; John Mallett, Guernsey County; Steven Watts, Holmes County; and George Wallace, Harrison County.

Howard L. Neal, Clark County Extension agent, 4-H, will accompany the group. Their sponsors are the National Dairy Products Corporation; NOBA, Inc.; and the Central Ohio Breeding Association (COBA).

The 4-H Dairy Conference will be held in conjunction with the International Dairy Show. The young people will view prize cattle as guests of the International and the major dairy breed associations, take part in a marketing clinic and hear a panel discussion of careers in the dairy industry. The 4-Hers also will see a horse show and rodeo at the International Amphitheater, visit Don McNeill's Breakfast Club, tour Chicago, and take part in several recreational events.

Ohio is one of 23 states sending delegates to the conference. The event is sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service, the National 4-H Service Committee, the International Dairy Show, the Purebred Dairy Cattle Association, and other representatives of the dairy industry.

Small engines power most of our labor saving equipment today.

Operators of this machinery many times are the younger members of the family. It is important for every operator to have some ability and knowledge of the engine and its proper care. The 4-H Small Motor project does the job.

Lawn power equipment is one of the 4-H small motors projects. It is designed to help members learn how to operate a power mower both safely and efficiently. This project includes tips on caring for equipment, directions on using equipment, and steps to follow in mowing lawns properly. It also emphasizes keeping records.

Many boys and girls have a lawn mowing business. This project will help them be better managers of their business and save money through preventive maintenance.

Another one of the projects is small engine care and maintenance. Its purpose is to help members understand what makes an engine run and why it needs air, fuel, ignition, cooling and lubrication. In addition, how to avoid costly troubles and repairs, and learn how power is transmitted from engine to implements.

Both of these projects will provide a background of experience and knowledge to go further into larger engines such as 4-H automotive and tractor programs.

As is true with all of the 4-H projects, here is an excellent chance to look into an explore a career. Further information is available at the Pickaway County Extension Service, 137 W. Franklin St.

A 4-H club may be organized by having at least six boys and/or girls and an adult adviser.

The Four Speeds 4-H automotive club will meet at the 4-H and Grange Building, 8 p. m. Nov. 7. Paul Dean, adviser, says boys 14 or older are invited to this meeting.

The topic of discussion will be highway hazards. Members have been asked to take a hazard hunt in their area of the county for discussion at the meeting.

The Merry Mixers 4-H club and the Sew Straight Teenettes 4-H club of Circleville will hold an achievement meeting 6 p. m. Nov. 7, at the Lutheran Church Parish House. Awards will be presented.

In passing — it is with ideas as with pieces of money, those of least value generally circulate the most.

Don't Forget Lawn Mower

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,

Get a running start with your lawn mower next spring by cleaning and winterizing it now before putting it in winter hibernation.

Here's what W. E. Gill Extension Agricultural engineer at Ohio State University, advises lawn mower owners to do:

After the last mowing, wash off the machine to remove any dirt, clippings, grease, or oil; drain the gas tank and carburetor, so gum won't form; remove the air cleaner and clean it according to the manufacturer's directions; drain the crankcase and put fresh oil in it;

Remove and clean the spark plug. Before replacing it, squirt a little oil in the spark plug hole and pull the starter rope several times to lubricate the cylinder walls, lubricate the wheel bearings and any other moving parts, check the blade and replace or sharpen if necessary, then give a light coat of oil to prevent rust; cover mower with a piece of old canvas or blanket and store in a dry place.

Soil Testing Is Best Way To Find Out Nutrient Needs

By RON TENNEY
Extension Trainee

Today's high crop yields require large amounts of plant nutrients applied in the proper balance. The only sure way that this can be done is through careful planning with the aid of soil test results.

By taking soil samples now farmers have the winter months to plan next spring's fertilizing program and avoid the spring rush. This also will avoid peak testing months at the testing lab.

If it is not necessary to wait until just prior to planting to get soil tested. Samples may be collected anytime during the year that soil conditions are suitable for sampling.

Extension bulletin 388 gives these recommendations for sampling: 1. Use a soil probe or auger for best results; 2. Obtain the sample from 20 to 30 cores to get a representative sample; 3. Take cores at random in a "zig-zag" pattern over the area; 4. Sample cropland to a six-inch depth; 5. Sample a row crop between the row to avoid fertilizer band areas; 6. Avoid dead furrows, turn rows and other freak spots.

AFTER the sample has been collected, dry it at room temperature, mix thoroughly and retain one pint of the original sample in a clean paper bag. Take the dry sample to the County Agricultural Extension office and provide the following information:

Soil type and name, if known; position of soil (upland, bottom); natural drainage; slope; intended use; liming history; crops to be grown any specific problems encountered with the soil.

Results of the standard group test will give you the soil lime deficit, color and texture and the levels of phosphorus, potassium and organic matter. The fee for this test is $1.25.

More information may be obtained from George Hamrick, County Extension agent. Don't guess — soil test!

Spring flowering bulbs include daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, bulb-iris, crocuses, scillas, glory-of-the-snow grape hyacinths and snowdrops. They bring color to the garden when few other flowers are in bloom.

Here are five basic points to consider when you buy flower bulbs in the fall:

1. Know types colors, and sizes of flower bulbs, and where they grow best.
2. Domestic or imported bulbs can be equally good.
3. Make sure bulbs are sound. Reject them if they look moldy, discolored, or soft.
4. Buy from a reliable dealer. Cheaper bulbs usually are from poorer stock, and may not be a good investment.

Spring flowering bulbs include daffodils, tulips, hyacinths, bulb-iris, crocuses, scillas, glory-of-the-snow grape hyacinths and snowdrops. They bring color to the garden when few other flowers are in bloom.

Here are five basic points to consider when you buy flower bulbs in the fall:

1. Know types colors, and sizes of flower bulbs, and where they grow best.
2. Domestic or imported bulbs can be equally good.
3. Make sure bulbs are sound. Reject them if they look moldy, discolored, or soft.
4. Buy from a reliable dealer. Cheaper bulbs usually are from poorer stock, and may not be a good investment.

STOP! You're taking a chance!

If you've been in the habit of "booking" your feed before new-crop information is available, you have been taking a chance with your feedlot results.

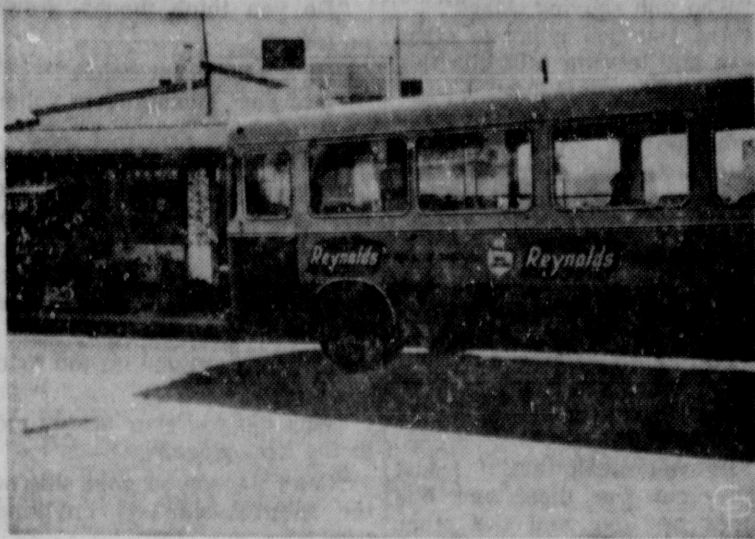

You make money by producing the lowest cost pound of beef, not by saving pennies on a "cheaper," less efficient supplement or ration.

A good booking means nothing unless the feed itself is of high quality. So why not wait until you have talked with us about Purina's feeding programs. They feature Purina Cattle Starters that will put cattle on full feed the very first day. And they contain supplements "built-to-fit" your own particular grain and roughages. Or complete Cattle Chows that can save you work and may cut feeding costs.

Ask us also how you can protect your cost with Purina's Firm Price Plan.

Driving Bus Is Considered Fairest of Jobs in Spain

By JOE WILSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

PALMA DE MALLORCA, Spain — Two of the most sought after jobs in Mallorca are those of bus driver and ticket-taker on the local transit system. It's not that the hours are short or the pay is good, but — WOW — those fringe benefits.

At either end of the many lines there is invariably a respite of from 10 to 30 minutes. Conveniently located at the turn-around is a bar or bodega. Here the bus crews linger over a glass of wine or cognac while waiting for their scheduled return.

On the more desirable routes, the terminal point adjoins the Mediterranean. These fortunate crews rush through the pick-me-up, saunter down to the shore with their tackle and spend a leisurely half hour fishing for lunch or dinner.

Although many first time visitors to the island find this bar hopping habit disconcerting, most bus riders are more than happy with the public transportation system.

Pretty women are extended the VIP treatment. Not only will a bus stop anywhere at the flick of a wrist of a fair damsel, but more often than not she enters the front or exit door, next to the driver instead of the rear entrance.

Thus the lady rides free and the driver is rewarded with a pleasant diversion. For the young and beautiful, it's like having a free taxi service at their disposal.

On some of the more rural routes, the bus crews act as a delivery service for their friends living along the way. A honk of the horn brings the housewife scurrying to the curb to receive a package that these obliging, courteous drivers have picked up for them in the big city.

Regular customers are also treated with favoritism. They are not only picked up at their door in the morning on their way to work, but frequently the drivers will delay their departure for as long as 20 minutes while waiting for a tardy regular.

In Spain, where nothing but the bullfights and mass start on time, the public transportation is no exception to the rule. To insure lateness, drivers will go to any lengths from watching the last part of a football match on television to setting their watches back.

In spite of these few idiosyncrasies, Palma de Mallorca's busy system has an outstanding record of safety and reliability, if a bit late.

Inflationary Fears Eased, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson reported Friday that "a very healthy movement toward price stability" has eased inflationary fears.

The President told a news conference that the wholesale price index—usually a forerunner of consumer price movements—has been leveling off and has risen only eight-tenths of one per cent in the past 10 months.

Johnson said that some of the price bulge which has occurred resulted from wage increases "which we thought desirable" for lower-income groups such as hospital workers.

"This did bring prices up some," the President told a questioner, "but prices have increased less in the six years of the Kennedy-Johnson administration than they did in the preceding six years of the Eisenhower administration, while wages have increased more."

And Martini At Lunchtime?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — At a pre-kindergarten class in Baltimore, says Dr. Robert J. Wilder, a 4-year-old girl was late for school every day.

The child said she was late because she had to finish her after-breakfast cigarette.

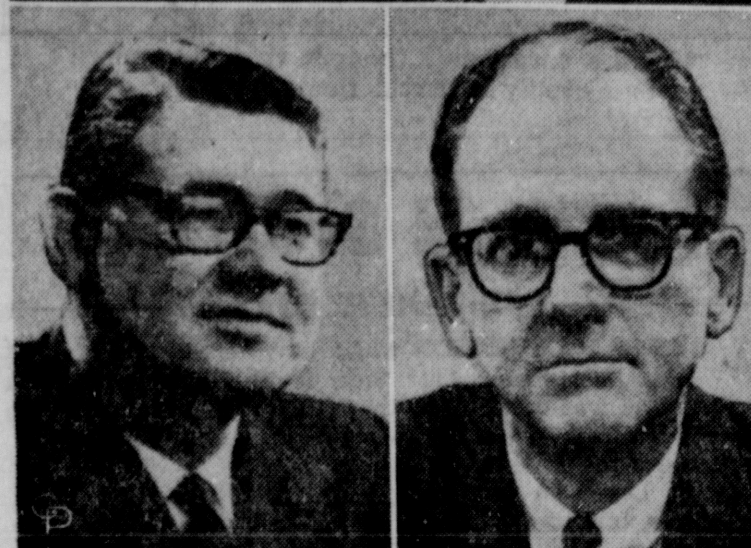

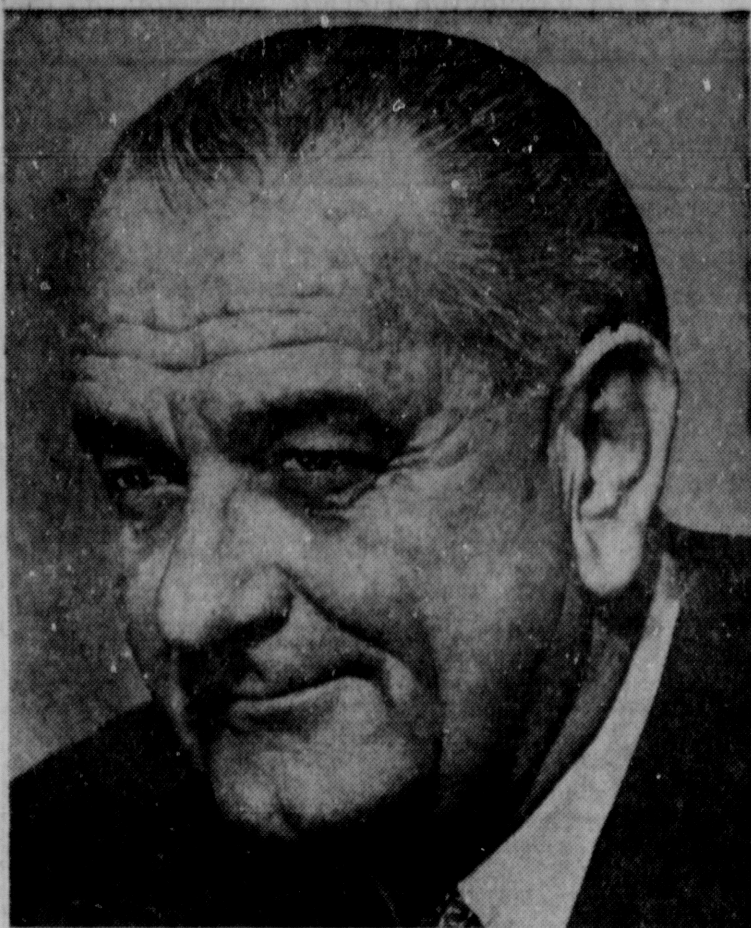

The girl's mother told school officials that she allowed her daughter to smoke because she felt it would help the child relax.

"You can see the need for education about smoking," Wilder, assistant professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins University, told a meeting of the Maryland Congress of Parents and Teachers Friday.

Vietnamese Villagers Like American 'Bac Si'

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Few Americans have impressed Viet Nam's people more than the "bac si."

That is roughly the equivalent for the doctor who carries a weapon the Viet Cong does not possess — medicine that cures, and serums that prevent disease.

Medical aid teams working under the U.S. Agency for International Development program travel to remote hamlets often in areas where no other foreign civilian can go safely.

Not one member of a U.S. AID medical team has been lost to Communist action. Once in a while, they undergo stray fire, but the Viet Cong seem to know better than to deny the villagers what the "bac si" brings.

The medical teams are distinguished by their red berets. Villagers in areas where they have worked know them from a distance, often tip them off in advance if an area is dangerous.

Medical teams work in all four corps areas of South Viet Nam. They are responsible for getting down into the village in support of the Health Ministry's civic action program. The effort is called MEDCAP for Medical Civilian Civic Action Program.

As with every other effort in South Viet Nam, it sometimes encounters political difficulties.

There is a reliable report, for example, that the minister of health has threatened to resign unless he gets better support for the program from the military government.

Medical team members say they think the minister of health, Dr. Tran Van Luy, is a capable and dedicated administrator.

An ambitious health plan has been outlined in the pacification program for Viet Nam, but as with almost everything else, what is on paper seldom gives with what goes on.

In 10 years, 13,000 health stations have been stocked with American medicine. Hundreds of thousands of Vietnamese have been inoculated against a variety of diseases. Medical teams from 16 nations treat patients by the thousands. Medical schools are being built.

The over-all program is under the command of Maj. Gen. James Humphrey, who achieved fame here by conducting a successful operation to extract a live grenade from the back of a Vietnamese. He is on loan to the U.S. AID program.

Bigger Pheasant Stock To Be Released for '66

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Pheasant hunters in Ohio are going to get more targets to shoot at—20,000 of them.

The Division of Wildlife reported Friday it will release that number of pheasants on many Ohio public hunting areas—almost double the number stocked during the 1965 season.

In addition to the increased stocking effort, three new release sites will be used this year. They are the Beach City Wildlife Area; Tuscarawas County; Cooper Hollow Wildlife Area; Jackson County, and Salt Fork Wildlife Area, Guernsey County.

The division said one of the reasons which allows for the increased pheasant releases is the fact that less costly hen pheasants will be made available for shooting in certain public hunting areas in the south pheasant zone as well as Auburn March, Berlin Reservoir, Grand River and Hambden Orchard in the north.

The pheasants are to be released to coincide with peak hunting days which will include the first day, Nov. 15, the first Saturday, Thanksgiving and the Saturday after Thanksgiving.

Price Boycott

A government-sponsored 18-month study on the problem of food prices, released last summer, ironically blamed consumers themselves for the increase. The National Commission on Food Marketing, however, urged shoppers to do something to bring prices more in line with their pocketbooks.

Angry Denver housewives have already taken the advice. Thousands have boycotted the major supermarkets in the city and the movement against soaring costs is beginning to take hold in other cities in the nation. A strike against prices which started in Ottawa has spread across Canada. The Supermarket Institute, which includes 900 companies in the United States and abroad, understandably has criticized the boycotts as being illogical. But it offers familiar explanations for the price increases: Labor shortages in the food industry, tight money, higher farm income, replacement costs and so on.

Not forgotten was the old argument frequently used by Agriculture Secretary Freeman, that consumers now spend a smaller proportion of their take home pay for food than formerly.

But the logic housewives understand only too well is that offered by the prices which have been going upward steadily for too long.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN SAM LEVENSON was a boy, he was one of eight kids in a lower East Side family dominated by a mother who was determined they all would grow up to "be somebody." She lived to see her dreams come true.

Mama Levenson was a fine cook, but she didn't believe in letting any food go to waste. She attached such credence to the "stale bread is good for you" theory that she even learned to bake day-old bread. At night she put a lighted candle in an old skull the medical student-son had brought home, to scare off burglars. It worked, too. The one burglar who got in was so terrified he forgot his tools. Sam gave them to the medically inclined brother who used them on his first patients.

You'll learn lots of other pleasing things about Sam Levenson from his book, "Everything But Money."

In Pocatello, Idaho, a couple browsing in a bookshop came upon ten copies of Homer's Iliad. "Wonder why they stock that book so heavily?" mused the wife. The husband surmised, "Probably a local author."

We Told You Not To Ask

NEW YORK (AP) — Life is a sentence that begins and ends with a question mark.

True education is impossible to anyone who lacks a questioning spirit.

But the smart fellow learns early that sometimes it isn't merely wisdom that you acquire by asking questions — you can also get a punch in the nose.

When in doubt, let the other fellow ask the question; then learn by the answer he gets.

But there are some questions that are bound to lead to nothing but trouble — and it is wiser never to bother asking them.

Such as:

"What makes you think that this gun isn't loaded?"

"So what if I didn't declare that two hundred bucks in my tax report. Are you going to make a federal case out of it?"

"Who yuh shoving, Mac?"

"Are you just going to stand there and let him talk like that to your very own wife?"

"Why don't you just put up — or shut up?"

"If something ever happened to me, would you consider marrying again?"

"Who's chicken?"

"Just how do you figure, Millicent, that two can live as cheap as one?"

"For Pete's sake, didn't your mother teach you how to cook?"

"Shall we start off by playing for a buck a hole?"

"Do you mean that if I just throw out the dice, and one comes up four, and the other comes up three, that I get all the money on the table?"

"Well, just what is it about the new mathematics that has you puzzled, son?"

"Do you think money grows on trees?"

"Haven't we met before?"

"Are you looking for volunteers, captain?"

"Do you think if I turned the faucet one more time with the wrench, it would stop the dripping?"

"Shall I just sign the check, and let you fill in the exact amount later?"

"Do you want one for the road — or two?"

"Why did you ever marry me in the first place?"

"Can't anyone on your side of the family ever do anything right?"

"Haven't I already taken you out one night this month?"

"Is there anything else I can do for you, boss?"

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Use of industrial development bonds is soaring, even though many investment bankers consider their use unethical.

Industrial development bonds use the low-cost borrowing advantages of city government to finance private factories. They have been very successful in improving the living conditions in poor towns, particularly in the South.

Opponents, such as the Investment Bankers Association, say this use of public funds for a private purpose is a misuse, that it lessens a city's ability to borrow for new schools and sewers and water systems.

Proponents say the argument is really sociological rather than financial. They question the statement that industrial aid bonds are a misuse. A town has the right to create jobs by financing a factory, they say.

The strength behind any defense of these bonds is a mixture of good business, politics, humanitarianism and profit.

Some of the bonds are backed by the entire credit rating of a town. That is, the town pledges to repay the money it borrows through its taxing power, even though it has no assurance the company it finances will succeed.

More often, the bonds are revenue bonds. In such a case the factory signs a contract to repay interest and principal from its revenues in an amount sufficient to retire the bonds. If it doesn't pay, it is evicted.

In 1950, only $7 million in municipal industrial development bonds were issued. By 1960 the total was $40 million. And in the first nine months this year the amount rose to $439 million. The backlog for the year is as large.

Some 32 states now have passed laws — "enabling legislation" — permitting the use of industrial aid bonds. Some of these states, of course, are not industrially deprived. Instead, they are disturbed at having lost industry to other states.

If every state eventually permits such bonds, their use as an incentive might be diminished. The real loser, however, would be the tax collector.

Since the industrial bonds cannot be taxed by the federal government, the Treasury Department and the Internal Revenue Service are becoming more and more concerned.

"Uncle Sam allows the back door to stand wide open while he carefully guards the front," said Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a member of the House Banking and Currency subcommittee.

Reuss' statements were made to a meeting of the American Bankers Association, the chief opponent of this type of financing. And the ABA right now is encouraging legislation to end some of the advantages.

The most suitable age for astronauts, declares Pyotr Yegorov of the Soviet Academy of Medical Sciences, is between 30 and 50. If he means space travel is far from kid stuff, we agree.

The Russian space expert says men of that age (30-50) are apt to better withstand pressure mentally. Not likely to be too flighty?

Republicans stage a rally in a Missouri cave. However, this definitely does not mean the GOP election hopes have sunk so low.

During the very earlier days of aerial warfare, we read, dogs were sometimes used in an effort to detect the approach of planes. Interesting — but the story doesn't say whether they were Skye terriers or Airedales.

Onion and garlic used in combination, according to a medical columnist, can aid in preventing the gathering of germs. Well, they certainly don't act as a magnet in drawing friends, either!

Price Boycott

A government-sponsored 18-month study on the problem of food prices, released last summer, ironically blamed consumers themselves for the increase. The National Commission on Food Marketing, however, urged shoppers to do something to bring prices more in line with their pocketbooks.

Angry Denver housewives have already taken the advice. Thousands have boycotted the major supermarkets in the city and the movement against soaring costs is beginning to take hold in other cities in the nation. A strike against prices which started in Ottawa has spread across Canada. The Supermarket Institute, which includes 900 companies in the United States and abroad, understandably has criticized the boycotts as being illogical. But it offers familiar explanations for the price increases: Labor shortages in the food industry, tight money, higher farm income, replacement costs and so on.

Not forgotten was the old argument frequently used by Agriculture Secretary Freeman, that consumers now spend a smaller proportion of their take home pay for food than formerly.

But the logic housewives understand only too well is that offered by the prices which have been going upward steadily for too long.

Court Ruled Error in Naples Writ

CINCINNATI (AP)—The writ of habeas corpus that freed alleged Youngstown racketeer Joseph (Joey) Naples from prison was not granted properly, the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals says.

The court ruled Friday that U.S. District Judge Mell Underwood in Columbus erred in granting the writ after a hearing Dec. 23, 1964, during which an assistant Ohio attorney general suddenly said Naples' civil rights had been violated.

The case was remanded to Judge Underwood with instructions to vacate the order granting the writ of habeas corpus and a request to hold a hearing to determine Naples' rights.

Naples' attorneys contended the evidence against him was obtained in an illegal search and that he was denied the due process of law because no preliminary hearing was held in Youngstown Municipal Court. Naples was sentenced to 1-7 years in the Ohio Penitentiary for promoting a scheme of chance and receiving stolen goods.

During a hearing Naples' habeas corpus petition, Assistant Atty. Gen. John C. Clifton told Judge Underwood he felt the writ should be granted because Naples had not received a preliminary hearing.

Waves Curb Rescue Effort

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Efforts to refloat the U.S. submarine Tiru, aground since early Thursday on a coral reef off Australia's northeast coast, were reported hampered today by seven-foot waves.

The submarine reported negligible damage and said it was in no immediate danger. None of its eight officers and 72 crewmen were hurt.

The Australian navy troop transport Sydney was standing by.

Three other vessels were on their way to Frederick Reef, 330 miles from the port of Mackay, to help the Tiru.

The Australian navy said in Canberra the sea prevented small boats from approaching the 1,526-ton sub to attach tow lines.

Space Program Provides Help for Heart Patients

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — An electronic aid for astronauts is beginning to help answer a worrisome question for heart patients on earth — when can they safely return to what kind of jobs?

One device developed for astronauts sends their electrocardiograms — ECG — recordings of electrical activity of the heart, back to earth.

Now similar radio ECGs are helping measure the capability of once-damaged hearts during exercise or as the owners work at different jobs.

If a patient returns to a strenuous job too soon, the heart may be damaged anew. But if he takes it too easy, he may become a heart cripple unnecessarily.

Ordinary ECGs are one means of judging the heart's health, but they may give an inadequate assessment if taken when a man is resting or after exercise. Radio ECGs, taken during activity, offer the promise of more complete assessments. New research with them was described by Israel and Soviet scientists to the fifth World Congress of Cardiology.

tective at the time of the slaying and now assigned to the police radio unit—about the police investigation into the brutal slaying.

The slain, 24-year police veteran told Bailey he had not checked with doctors or consulted x-rays about neck injury Sheppard said he suffered while struggling with his wife's slayer.

In loud tones Bailey asked if Schotke checked to see if Sheppard's injuries were self-inflicted before accusing him.

Schotke said, "no," and added in response to another question that Sheppard "did not appear to be in any pain" when questioned earlier in the day of the slaying.

Sheppard contends he received the neck injury while grappling with a "form"—first in his dead wife's bedroom and later, after recovering from being knocked out, on the beach where he again was knocked out.

In response to questions by both the prosecution and the defense, the detective said police found no signs of forcible entry into the lakefront home.

Except for less than 10 minutes of questioning of Mrs. Nancy Ahern, a former neighbor of the Sheppards, Schotke was on the stand all day. Mrs. Ahern, whose husband, Don, was the state's first witness, told the court of the evening of July 3, 1954, when the Aherns had dinner at the Sheppard home and visited until after midnight.

She said that after helping Marilyn clear the table on the porch she re-entered the living room. She added:

"When I came in, I shut the door. I think I bolted it, or closed it, or locked it."

It was through this door Sheppard said he pursued a bushy-haired intruder to the beach behind the house.

Top Secret Out: LBJ's JBB Sires 5

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best kept secret since President Johnson went to Nam Rahn Bay has been revealed — the birth of five puppies to Freckles, one of the President's beagles.

Just before departing Friday for his Texas ranch, Johnson showed the puppies to newsmen. He said they were born Oct. 26, the day he visited South Viet Nam.

The pups — three females and two males, as yet unnamed — were sired by a beagle named Jones Brookline Buddy, owned by Jean Austin Du Pont of Wilmington, Del. The White House said they have been promised to friends.

Elsewhere at sea, North Vietnamese shore batteries attacked U.S. destroyers Friday for the second time this week, inflicting slight shrapnel hits on the destroyer Braine. The two U.S. Air Force planes lost Friday were an F105 Thunderchief and an F101 Voodoo tactical reconnaissance craft, both victims of groundfire, a U.S. spokesman reported. All four crewmen were listed as missing in action.

Civilian irregulars are battling a large Communist force several miles northwest of this location in deep jungle.

The third area is southeast of Tay Ninh City at Suoi Cao, where a Vietnamese regional free unit suffered heavy casualties.

Allied casualties are reported light so far, but spokesman said they had no up to date account of casualties today. The civilian irregulars are known to have taken heavy casualties and they lost radio contact with their headquarters for two hours this morning.

Total enemy casualties for the action have been given as 97.

MY OPPONENT, MYRL SHOEMAKER, SAYS, "I STAND ON MY RECORD." WHAT IS THE RECORD?

HERE ARE THE FACTS:

- * HE VOTED AGAINST placing a $250,000,000 bond issue on the ballot. Out of this bond issue, approved overwhelmingly by the voters, came the money for the Ohio University branch campus in Chillicothe. (He says he voted for the appropriation, but he voted against raising the money!)
- * HE VOTED AGAINST the bond issue which provided money for the development of Ross Lake.
- * HE VOTED AGAINST and worked against passage of a $500,000,000 bond issue for highways, only voting to spend the money after the people of Ohio approved the bond issue by a large majority. Some $11,800,000 has been spent on improved highways in this area, and another $11,400,000 is committed to this area over the next four years.
- * HE VOTED AGAINST return of some $15,000,000 to local governments in Ohio. He says he supports local government, but he voted against a bill which gave Ross County $104,000; and Pickaway County $73,000.
- * HE VOTED AGAINST STATE AID TO LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICTS. He says he favors more state aid to lower real estate taxes, but in 1959, under the DiSalle Administration, he sponsored and voted for a bill which increased the local real estate taxes required to participate in the School Foundation program. Court Ruled Error in Naples Writ

CINCINNATI (AP)—The writ of habeas corpus that freed alleged Youngstown racketeer Joseph (Joey) Naples from prison was not granted properly, the U. S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals says.

The court ruled Friday that U.S. District Judge Mel Underwood in Columbus erred in granting the writ after a hearing Dec. 23, 1964, during which an assistant Ohio attorney general suddenly said Naples' civil rights had been violated.

The case was remanded to Judge Underwood with instructions to vacate the order granting the writ of habeas corpus and a request to hold a hearing to determine Naples' rights.

Naples' attorneys contended the evidence against him was obtained in an illegal search and that he was denied the due process of law because no preliminary hearing was held in Youngstown Municipal Court. Naples was sentenced to 1-7 years in the Ohio Penitentiary for promoting a scheme of chance and receiving stolen goods.

During a hearing Naples' habeas corpus petition, Assistant Atty. Gen. John Cianflora told Judge Underwood he felt the writ should be granted because Naples had not received a preliminary hearing.

If a patient returns to a strenuous job too soon, the heart may be damaged anew. But if he takes it too easy, he may become a heart cripple unnecessarily.

Ordinary ECGs are one means of judging the heart's health, but they may give an inadequate assessment if taken when a man is resting or after exercise. Radio ECGs, taken during activity, offer the promise of more complete assessments. New research with them was described by Israel and Soviet scientists to the fifth World Congress of Cardiology.

tective at the time of the slaying and now assigned to the police radio unit—about the police investigation into the brutal slaying.

The slain, 24-year police veteran told Bailey he had not checked with doctors or consulted x-rays about neck injury Sheppard said he suffered while struggling with his wife's slayer.

In loud tones Bailey asked if Schottke checked to see if Sheppard's injuries were self-inflicted before accusing him.

Schottke said, "no," and added in response to another question that Sheppard "did not appear to be in any pain" when questioned earlier in the day of the slaying.

Sheppard contends he received the neck injury while grappling with a "form"—first in his dead wife's bedroom and later, after recovering from being knocked out, on the beach where he again was knocked out.

In response to questions by both the prosecution and the defense, the detective said police found no signs of forcible entry into the lakefront home.

Except for less than 10 minutes of questioning of Mrs. Nancy Ahern, a former neighbor of the Sheppards, Schottke was on the stand all day. Mrs. Ahern, whose husband, Don, was the state's first witness, told the court of the evening of July 3, 1954, when the Aherns had dinner at the Sheppard home and visited until after midnight.

She said that after helping Marilyn clear the table on the porch she re-entered the living room. She added:

"When I came in, I shut the door. I think I bolted it, or closed it, or locked it."

It was through this door Sheppard said he pursued a bushy-haired intruder to the beach behind the house.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The best kept secret since President Johnson went to Nam Rahn Bay has been revealed — the birth of five puppies to Freckles, one of the President's beagles.

Just before departing Friday for his Texas ranch, Johnson showed the puppies to newsmen. He said they were born Oct. 26, the day he visited South Viet Nam.

The pups — three females and two males, as yet unnamed — were sired by a beagle named Jones Brookline Buddy, owned by Jean Austin Du Pont of Wilmington, Del. The White House said they have been promised to friends.

Elsewhere at sea, North Vietnamese shore batteries attacked U.S. destroyers Friday for the second time this week, inflicting slight shrapnel hits on the destroyer Braine. U.S. spokesmen reported that intense counter-battery fire from the destroyers and repeated air strikes by Air Force F4C Phantom jets, damaged two of the North Vietnamese guns and left fires burning in the area.

The two U.S. Air Force planes lost Friday were an F105 Thunderchief and an F101 Voodoo tactical reconnaissance craft, both victims of groundfire, a U.S. spokesman reported. All four crewmen were listed as missing in action.

Giant Guam-based B52s continued raids against Communist installations in Kotum Province today, for the eighth day in a row. This is the region where the U. S. 4th Division made a heavy contact last weekend.

The fighting in Tay Ninh Province is centered in three areas. The major action is a few miles north of Dau Tieng at the edge of the Michelin rubber plantation, about 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

Civilian irregulars are battling a large Communist force several miles northwest of this location in deep jungle.

The third area is southeast of Tay Ninh City at Suoi Cao, where a Vietnamese regional force unit suffered heavy casualties.

Allied casualties are reported light so far, but spokesmen said they had no up to date account of casualties today. The civilian irregulars are known to have taken heavy casualties and they lost radio contact with their headquarters for two hours this morning.

Total enemy casualties for the action have been given as 97.

Three American units are engaged in the Tay Ninh fight. They are the 19th Light Infantry Brigade based in Tay Ninh City, 60 miles northwest of Saigon, elements of the 25th Division and an expanded brigade from the 1st Infantry Division, which took over operational control of the operation, named Attleboro II, this morning.

Dear Abby: Better Stay Out of Grandma's Way

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. I was a divorcee with four small children, but this time I got the best man who ever walked in shoe leather. I am 22 and my husband is 21, and his mother doesn't like me. She says her son isn't ready for so much responsibility. She told me to my face that she doesn't like small children, especially mine because they are not HER grandchildren.

She said if I ever had her son's children THEY will be her grandchildren. And she doesn't want my kids calling her "grandma." I don't want to come between your husband and his mother, but I don't want my children hurt either. What should I do?

NEW IN THE FAMILY
DEAR NEW: Stay out of her way. And do your children a favor and keep THEM out of her way, too. If you don't want to come between your husband and his mother, don't expect him to run interference for you.

A 22-year-old divorcee with four small children is lucky to get the "best man who ever walked in shoe leather." But

DEAR ABBY: Married women are expected to wear wedding rings. I think all married men should wear something to indicate that THEY are married.

WILMA
DEAR WILMA: Isn't a five-year-old suit and a worried look sufficient?

DEAR ABBY: I have a close friend who has a 19-year-old daughter who is sweet, wholesome and respectful. She has always entertained her friends at home and has abided by her parents' wishes. But the problem Abby is, no matter which boy the girl brings home, her father ignores him completely. In fact, he would rather so completely, they all feel unwelcome in the home.

Her mother is at a loss. In fact she's become a nervous wreck due to his actions. This father claims he loves his daughter and would like to see her settled with a nice young man, so he can't be jealous and trying to run them off for fear of losing her. He is friendly and fun - loving with all her girl friends, but when a boy calls, he acts like he is made of stone. Can you figure this out and offer some advice?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: What father says and how father feels may be two different things. Some fathers don't "trust" any male who shows an interest in their daughters. Others are simply ill-at-ease with a young man or another generation.

Ask your friend to get her husband to talk about his feelings with regard to his daughter and her boy friends. Sometimes the truth reveals itself when the problem is discussed openly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K.: A lady should never tell an off color joke. The laugh she gets is temporary — and doesn't compensate for the loss of dignity — which is permanent.

Dear Abby: Better Stay Out of Grandma's Way

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. I was a divorcee with four small children, but this time I got the best man who ever walked in shoe leather. I am 22 and my husband is 21, and his mother doesn't like me. She says her son isn't ready for so much responsibility. She told me to my face that she doesn't like small children, especially mine because they are not HER grandchildren.

She said if I ever had her son's children THEY will be her grandchildren. And she doesn't want my kids calling her "grandma." I don't want to come between my husband and his mother, but I don't want my children hurt either. What should I do?

NEW IN THE FAMILY

DEAR NEW: Stay out of her way. And do your children a favor, and too if you don't want to come between your husband and his mother, don't expect him to run interference for you.

A 22-year-old divorcee with four small children is lucky to get the "best man who ever walked in shoe leather." But you can't have everything. And your handicap is a mother-in-law who sounds like she could hunt bear with a switch.

DEAR ABBY: Married women are expected to wear wedding rings. I think all married men should wear something to indicate that THEY are married.

WILMA
DEAR WILMA: Isn't a five-year-old suit and a worried look sufficient?

DEAR ABBY: I have a close friend who has a 19-year-old daughter who is sweet, wholesome and respectful. She has always entertained her friends at home and has abided by her parents' wishes. But the problem Abby is, no matter which boy the girl brings home, her father ignores him completely. In fact, he ignored them so completely, they all feel unwelcome in the home.

Her mother is at a loss. In fact she's become a nervous wreck due to his actions. This father claims he loves his daughter and would like to see her settled with a nice young man, so he can't be jealous and trying to run them off for fear of losing her. He is friendly and fun - loving with all her girl friends, but when a boy calls, he acts like he is made of stone. Can you figure this out and offer some advice?

A FRIEND
DEAR FRIEND: What father says and how father feels may be two different things. Some fathers don't "trust" any male who shows an interest in their daughters. Others are simply ill-at-ease with a young man or another generation.

Ask your friend to get her husband to talk about his feelings with regard to his daughter and her boy friends. Sometimes the truth reveals itself when the problem is discussed openly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. K.: A lady should never tell an off color joke. The laugh she gets is temporary — and doesn't compensate for the loss of dignity — which is permanent.

Rev. Cummins Opens Tarlton WSCS Meeting

The Rev. Donald Cummins opened with a prayer when the Tarlton WSCS met Wednesday in the church social room.

Following group singing, Mrs. Alvina Judy gave the devotions. The study topic was "God is Able". Mrs. Bill Downs led the closing prayer.

Mrs. Marie Karr, president, opened the business meeting. Reports were given. A committee was appointed to prepare the hostess calendar for next year. They planned to establish a flower guild to provide flowers for the altar. Final plans were made for the tea and bazaar that will be held 1:30 p.m. Nov. 17.

A covered dish lunch was enjoyed by 13 members and three guests.

The next meeting will be held on Dec. 7 for a Christmas Party. There will be a gift exchange and the mystery gifts will be revealed.

Husband's Nite Observed by Local League

The Child Conservation League conducted its Husband's Night observance at the L-K Restaurant.

The program committee, Mrs. Ed Grigg and Mrs. Walter Yamarick, decorated the tables and made arrangements for the guest speaker, Mr. J. Coleman. Mr. Coleman is associated with Mound City Monument Park, near Chillicothe. He gave an account of the Battle of Manassas.

Mrs. Richard Plum announced that there will be two performances of Kathy Piper's Puppets in "Snow White". The shows will be presented by Bale Associates 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Nov. 12 at the Junior High School.

Tickets will be available at various schools Monday and Tuesday for this production.

Idle List Now Lowest In 8 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Friday the nation's total number of unemployed dropped to 2,521,000 in October for the lowest level in eight years, but that there was evidence of a slowdown in the pressure on the tight job market.

At the same time, the Labor Department reported the biggest drop in wholesale food and industrial prices in four years and an official described this as further evidence of a slowdown in the rate of the nation's economic growth.

Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said total employment rose 500,000 to 75.7 million in October but that the pressure to fill jobs with skilled workers is "a little less" in most industries.

"People have had time to catch up and adjust to the types of workers who are available and to train workers more adequately," Ross said.

Although the job picture for most Americans is still good, Ross said it is still difficult for minority groups such as Negroes and for the unskilled and uneducated to get employment.

Bar Bandits Thoughtful!

DETROIT (AP) — Two bandits bound porter William H. Johnson, ransacked a West Side cocktail lounge, and fled with four cases of whisky and an undetermined amount of cash recently.

But before leaving, they asked Johnson for his employer's telephone number.

Minutes after the bandits left, bar owner Chester Lawrence received a telephone call informing him his porter was tied.

Ohio Election Contests Seen As National Weather Vanes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Unique congressional contests and a possible gubernatorial runaway in Ohio point nationally as political weather vanes for Tuesday's election.

Buckeye Republicans, with a 14-10 U.S. House margin, now hope to regain at least four seats lost to Democrats in 1964 when President Johnson carried Ohio by a million votes.

And they count on Gov. James A. Rhodes, heading a full slate of statewide incumbents, to win by a margin extending coattail help for GOP control of the newly apportioned state legislature.

But hard pressed Democrats, with personal campaign assists from the President, vice president and the brothers Kennedy, concede nothing.

Two congressional races stand out in the first election under statewide redistricting, by a Republican-dominated legislature, that makes many of the 24 Ohio District results uncertain.

Former U.S. and state Rep. Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican," appears headed for a comeback in Cincinnati while GOP conservative John M. Ashbrook runs abut even in north-central Ohio against moderate Democrat Robert T. Secrest in the nation's only clash between two incumbent congressmen.

Taft, grandson of former president and Supreme Court chief justice William Howard Taft, seeks to continue family political dynasty by unseating first term John J. Gilligan, a Johnson administrator supporter.

Taft suffered a surprise defeat two years ago from Democratic U.S. Sen. Stephen M. Young Cleveland. Former Gov. Frank J. Lausche, independent-minded Democrat, holds Ohio's other U.S. Senate seat. Neither senate seat is at stake.

When Secrest's southeastern district was abolished by redistricting, the 11-term congressman moved into the district served by Ashbrook for three terms to set up the only clash this year between sitting House members.

Ashbrook, 38, an early Goldwater backer, is described as the "oldest member" of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. Secrest, 62, formerly served on the Federal Trade Commission and as Ohio commerce director. Both also are former Ohio House members.

Newspaper polls generally give Rhodes such a lead on his Democratic foe, State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Toledo, son of a former congressman and state welfare director, that Republicans predict an election sweep thrusting Rhodes into national prominence from which he shies.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown estimates an Ohio non-presidential year vote of 3.45 million, exceeding the comparable 1958 record of 3.3 million and the 3.2 million cast four years ago.

Rhodes got 1.83 million votes for 57 per cent of the 1962 total and would need more than 1.97 million for the same percentage of this year's estimated total. Some figure Rhodes may approximate 2 million if Brown's election total holds up but a number of ranking Republicans seem skeptical.

Despite Republican optimism, GOP State Chairman John S. Andrews of Toledo warns that party overconfidence could generate costly election apathy.

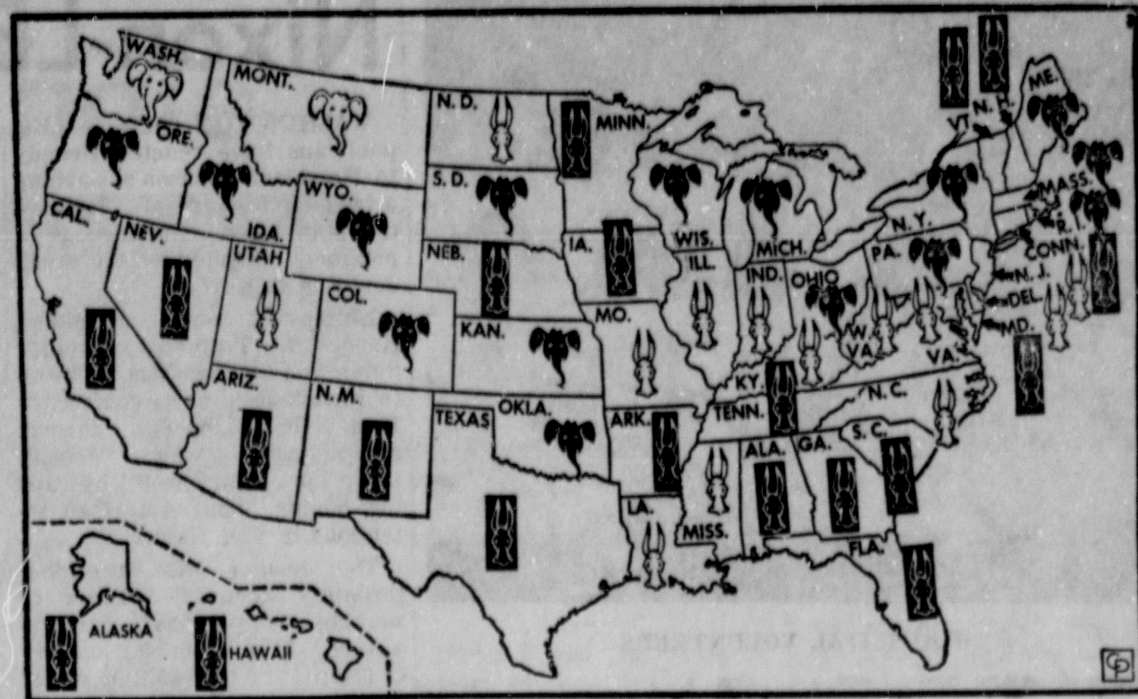

On the other side, Democratic State Chairman Morton Neipp, Reams' Toledo law partner, reminds workers that every vote counts and calls for unstinting efforts to turn the apparent pre-election tide in the party's favor.

Statewide offices to be filled, in addition to governor, are lieutenant governor, attorney general, full-term and short-term auditor, secretary of state, treasurer and two state Supreme Court seats.

Ohioans also will elect 24 congressmen, 33 state senators, 99 state representatives, a commissioner and an auditor in each of the 88 counties and some appellate, common pleas, probate and county court judges.

Locally, 1,320 special issues, including 177 bond issues, involving $3.5 million, broaden interest in the election.

35 GOVERNOR ELECTIONS—Black symbols denote the 35 gubernatorial elections Nov. 8. Twenty are in Democrat hands and the Republicans hope to win maybe half a dozen of those. Their best chances are in California, Arizona, Nevada, Nebraska, Maryland and Vermont. The Democrats hope to dump Republicans in Oklahoma, Idaho and New York.

Nixon-LBJ Exchange Grows Heated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have reacted sharply to President Johnson's slashing attack on Richard M. Nixon — the man often mentioned as a possible contender for the presidency in 1968.

Employing former President Harry S. Truman's familiar "give 'em hell" tactics, Johnson told a televised news conference Friday that Nixon is a "chronic campaigner" who "doesn't serve his country well" by raising doubts about American intentions in Viet Nam.

The former vice president promptly accused Johnson of making "a personal, partisan assault" in a "shocking display of temper." Nixon said he would make a more detailed reply to Johnson on nationwide television Sunday.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Johnson's remarks were "a vicious personal attack" on Nixon. In a statement issued through his Washington office, Ford added "all Mr. Nixon did was to raise legitimate questions about our foreign policy. The American people should have forthright answers to all these questions from the White House."

Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky chairman of the TOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said Johnson had brushed aside Nixon's "serious questions that deserve serious answers."

Capital Cabbies in Flap Over New Mini-Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Traffic hath no more furious foe than a mad cabbie. Neither, it may turn out, does the government.

Washington taxi drivers, who boast the cheapest big city rides in the country, are in a flap over government-sponsored tourist shuttles called mini-trains — which run cheaper.

The result is some James Bond spying, threats of a taxi strike by some of the capital's 9,000 cab drivers and misunderstanding of what constitutes a tourist.

"A tourist," says Hampton Ashley, a taxi spokesman, "is not a State Department guy going to lunch."

Back in October, it all seemed simple enough. The Interior Department planned an experimental five-week shuttle service, using trains from the New York World's Fair, to see if visitors would pay 10 cents to view city landmarks. If successful, it might be permanent.

The minitrains are actually open air carts with colorful striped canvas tops, like fringed surreys. They have rubber wheels and are called trains because carts can be linked together. Temporary federal employees operate them, and Park Service employees give lectures along the way.

There were flat tires, traffic jams, and in rain, the shuttles stuck in the mud. But tourists loved it.

So, apparently, did many more — the Interior Department says up to 2,000 a day. Government secretaries, leisurely lunch hour executives and congressmen rode between the State Department and the Capitol, down the Mall — up to 18 per cent.

Many of those riding would have otherwise taken taxis. A cab ride of the round-trip shuttle route would cost $3.60.

Has Cab Driver Wait While He Robs Bank

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — While his taxicab driver waited, a conservatively dressed young man robbed the Mayfair branch of the First National Bank of $1,400 recently.

Unaware that an armed robbery had been committed, the cab driver dropped his fare three blocks from the bank and received a 70-cent tip in addition to the $2 on the meter.

Morton said it was Johnson — "not Mr. Nixon, not the Republican party" — who called the Manila conference before an election "when this country is always beset with emotional political overtones."

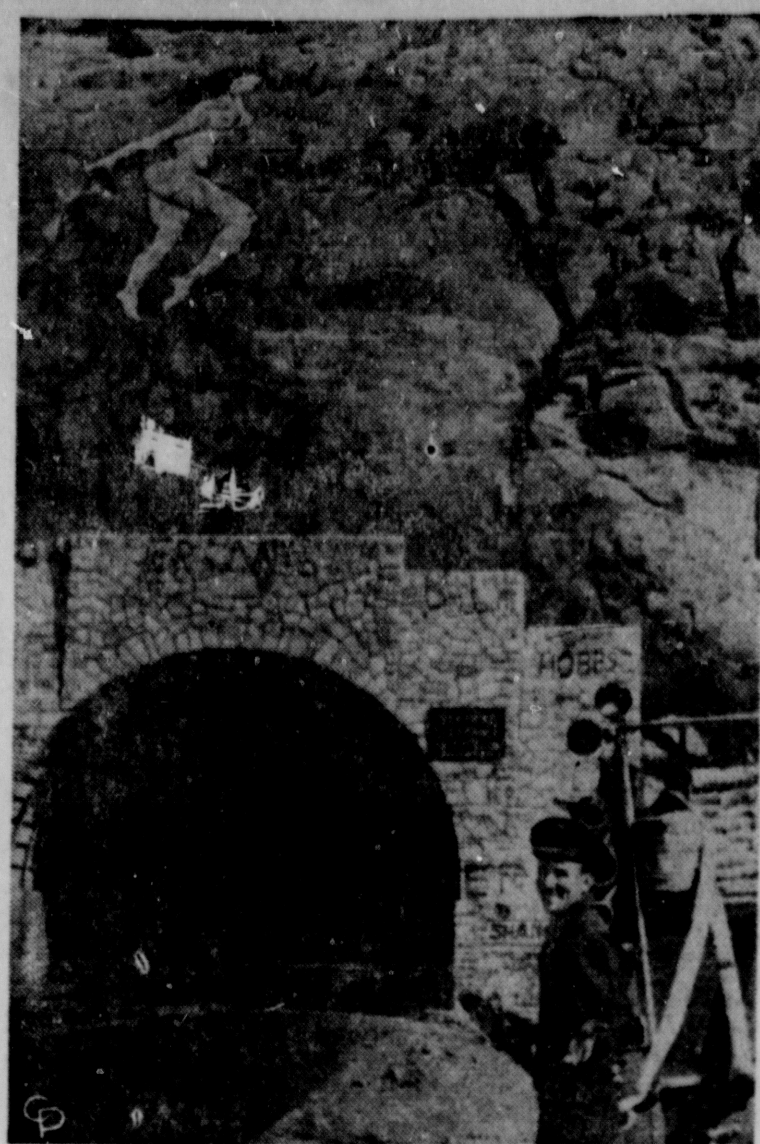

Johnson, in touching off verbal warfare that could develop into the hottest of the nearly concluded off-year campaign, took direct issue with Nixon's contention that the Manila conference offer to withdraw U. S. and allied troops six months after aggression is halted would leave South Viet Nam at the mercy of the Viet Cong.

Saying the Manila conferees were committed to keeping troops there until violence, infiltration and aggression cease, he accused Nixon of trying to confuse the issue.

"Mr. Nixon doesn't serve his country well by trying to leave that kind of impression in the hope that he can pick up a precinct or two, or a ward or two."

Nixon replied at a news conference in Waterville, Maine, that "despite the presidential temper I will continue to speak out" on Viet Nam. He repeated that a mutual withdrawal of free world and Communist forces would leave South Viet Nam in "the condition it was in when we went there" — at the mercy of the Viet Cong.

Nixon said he was reserving the main portion of his reply to Johnson for a half-hour appearance on television Sunday. He will fill the time scheduled for a Republican film, abandoned Friday after Democrats protested it was distorted and GOP leaders decided against sponsoring it.

The Chillicothe Gazette Endorses Representative Shoemaker

Chillicothe Gazette

CHILLICOTHE, OHIO THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1966 PAGE 28

Seniority Counts

Myrl Shoemaker, who has represented Ross County well through three terms in the Ohio General Assembly, deserves the support of every Ross Countian in this upcoming general election.

Mr. Shoemaker, if reelected, will represent a new district, the 21st, including both Ross and Pickaway Counties. He has a formidable, well-qualified opponent in Everett Beers, Republican of Ashville, Route 2, a contractor, who has school board experience and much civic service.

Mr. Shoemaker, the Gazette feels, has served his county well. He is an independent thinker, regardless of party and outside pressures. He has been of great help in the field of education, on Ohio University - Chillicothe, on Ross County Lake and on those other things we are particularly interested in, such as Adena, Mount Logan Park, highways, airport.

Although he was in the minority in the legislature, he made his voice heard. His membership on the Education, Agriculture and Health committees made it effective. His votes always favored the schools and the more-rural counties.

Since redistricting gives the metropolitan counties the edge (or the sledgehammer) we need a strong representative to plead the cause of the less-populated rural counties.

Mr. Shoemaker's experience, his tenure, his committee seniority give him authority which even his capable opponent, as a freshman, couldn't command.

Without reservation, the Gazette recommends the reelection of Myrl H. Shoemaker.

Nixon-LBJ Exchange Grows Heated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans have reacted sharply to President Johnson's slashing attack on Richard M. Nixon — the man often mentioned as a possible contender for the presidency in 1968.

Employing former President Harry S. Truman's familiar "give 'em hell" tactics, Johnson told a televised news conference Friday that Nixon is a "chronic campaigner" who "doesn't serve his country well" by raising doubts about American intentions in Viet Nam.

The former vice president promptly accused Johnson of making "a personal, partisan assault" in a "shocking display of temper." Nixon said he would make a more detailed reply to Johnson on nationwide television Sunday.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said Johnson's remarks were "a vicious personal attack" on Nixon. In a statement issued through his Washington office, Ford added "all Mr. Nixon did was to raise legitimate questions about our foreign policy. The American people should have forthright answers to all these questions from the White House."

Capital Cabbies in Flap Over New Mini-Trains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Traffic hitherto no more furious foe than a mad cabbie. Neither, it may turn out, does the government.

Washington taxi drivers, who boast the cheapest big city rides in the country, are in a flap over government-sponsored tourist shuttles called mini-trains — which run cheaper.

The result is some James Bond spying, threats of a taxi strike by some of the capital's 9,000 cab drivers and misunderstanding of what constitutes a tourist.

"A tourist," says Hampton Ashley, a taxi spokesman, "is not a State Department guy going to lunch."

Back in October, it all seemed simple enough. The Interior Department planned an experimental five-week shuttle service, using trains from the New York World's Fair, to see if visitors would pay 10 cents to view city landmarks. If successful, it might be permanent.

The minitrains are actually open air carts with colorful striped canvas tops, like fringed surreys. They have rubber wheels and are called trains because carts can be linked together. Temporary federal employees operate them, and Park Service employees give lectures along the way.

There were flat tires, traffic jams, and in rain, the shuttles stuck in the mud. But tourists loved it.

So, apparently, did many more — the Interior Department says up to 2,000 a day. Government secretaries, leisurely lunch hour executives and congressmen rode between the State Department and the Capitol, down the Mall — up to 18 per cent.

Many of those riding would have otherwise taken taxis. A cab ride of the round-trip shuttle route would cost $3.60.

Has Cab Driver Wait While He Robs Bank

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — While his taxicab driver waited, a conservatively dressed young man robbed the Mayfair branch of the First National Bank of $1,400 recently.

Unaware that an armed robbery had been committed, the cab driver dropped his fare three blocks from the bank and received a 70-cent tip in addition to the $2 on the meter.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky chairman of the TOP Senatorial Campaign Committee, said Johnson had brushed aside Nixon's "serious questions that deserve serious answers."

Morton said it was Johnson — "not Mr. Nixon, not the Republican party" — who called the Manila conference before an election "when this country is always beset with emotional political overtones."

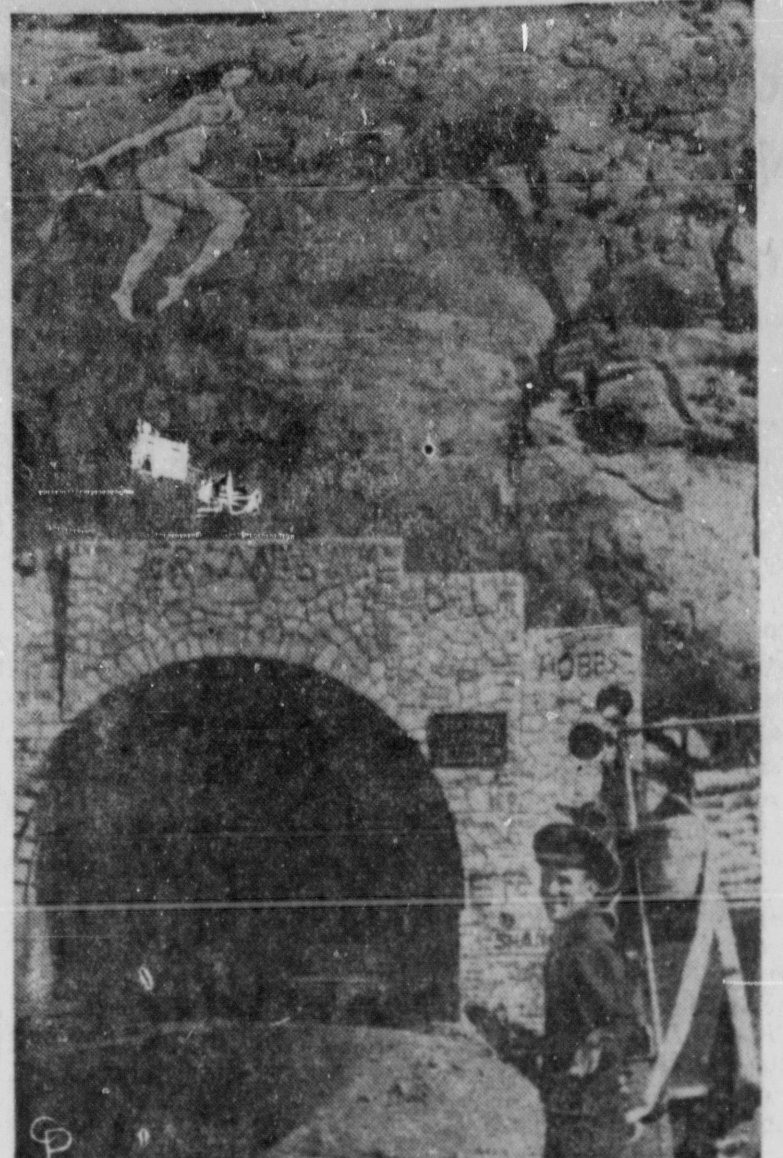

Johnson, in touching off verbal warfare that could develop into the hottest of the nearly concluded off-year campaign, took direct issue with Nixon's contention that the Manila conference offer to withdraw U. S. and allied troops six months after aggression is halted would leave South Viet Nam at the mercy of the Viet Cong.

Saying the Manila conferees were committed to keeping troops there until violence, infiltration and aggression cease, he accused Nixon of trying to confuse the issue.

"Mr. Nixon doesn't serve his country well by trying to leave that kind of impression in the hope that he can pick up a precinct or two, or a ward or two."

Nixon replied at a news conference in Waterville, Maine, that "despite the presidential temper I will continue to speak out" on Viet Nam. He repeated that a mutual withdrawal of free world and Communist forces would leave South Viet Nam in "the condition it was in when we went there" — at the mercy of the Viet Cong.

Nixon said he was reserving the main portion of his reply to Johnson for a half-hour appearance on television Sunday. He will fill the time scheduled for a Republican film, abandoned Friday after Democrats protested it was distorted and GOP leaders decided against sponsoring it.

Tiger Gridders Victors in Home Finale

Power Play Clips Falcon Unit 30-6

By STEVE JONES
The Circleville High School football team put the wraps on a successful home season Friday night, downing visiting Franklin Heights, 30-6.

For the second straight week Steve Dade provided the spark that made the Tiger attack move. The fancy stepping junior halfback ran for two touchdowns and was on the receiving end of a pass from quarterback Bob Tootle for a third.

Tootle also found Ron Bryant in the open for a touchdown aerial. Two successful conversions were run across the goal line by Eddie Wells and the third two-pointer came on a Tootle-to-Bryant pass.

The spectator throng at the final Tiger home football game was the smallest of the year by far. Franklin Heights brought only a few hardy fans with them. The Tiger side of the field was far from crowded.

CIRCLEVILLE'S 1966 grid machine made five home appearances this year and won them all. It represents the Red and Black's most successful season since the undefeated season of 1962.

Along with the successful home stand came undisputed possession of the South Central Ohio League crown.

As has been the case in most of the Circleville games this season, the opposition won the toss of coin and the Falcons elected to receive. Dade boomed the kickoff to the Falcon seven where Glover slipped and fell.

In three plays they could advance the ball only one yard. They punted from their eight and the ball rolled to the Tiger 32.

A run of three yards and an electrifying burst through the middle of the Falcon line that was good for 32 and the touchdowns were both carried by Dade.

The try for the extra points failed when Dade was tackled short of the goal line. But the Tigers led with less than two minutes gone.

THE REMAINDER of the first quarter was scoreless.

However, the second Tiger touchdown drive, which started on the CHS 10, began in the closing minutes of the initial quarter.

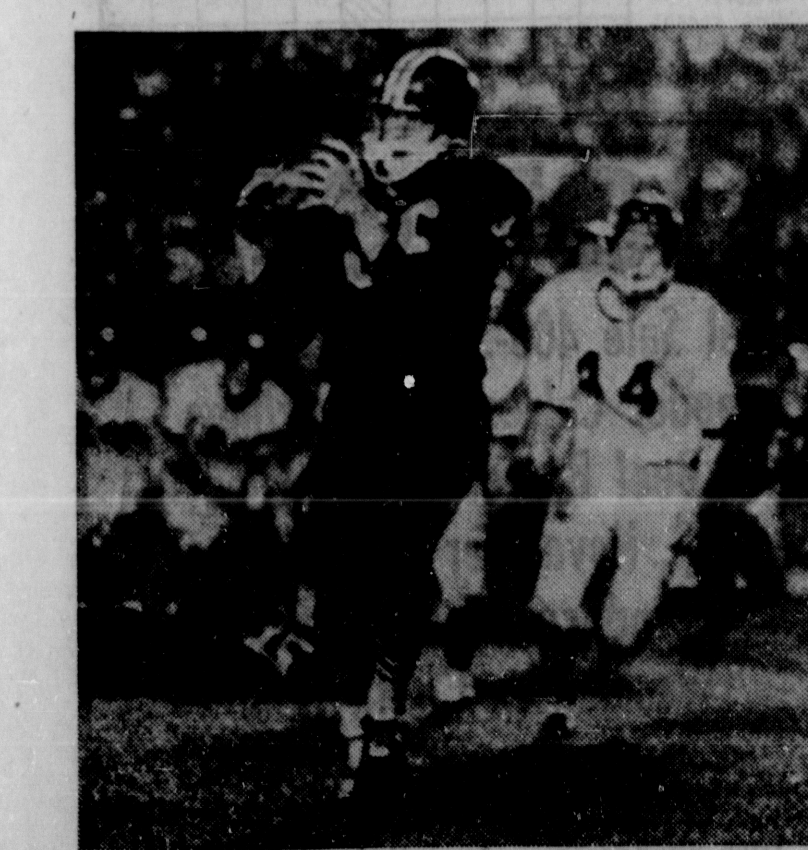

On this drive, Eddie Wells picked up three. Then Dade was nailed for an eight yard loss when he tried to skirt the end.

Dade came right back with a slant off tackle, squirmed through the line and picked up 27 yards before he was stopped.

Wells again carried for two yards. Then Dade was racked up at the line of scrimmage.

With less than a minute to go in the quarter, Tootle uncorked a pass to Ron Bryant that covered 54 yards. Bryant had no one between him and the goal line when he caught the pass but he was pulled down from behind at the 12.

DADE carried twice, once for five yards and again for three, moving the ball to the Franklin Heights four.

BRYANT PLUS — Ron Bryant, Circleville's top receiver, snags a Tootle aerial for a big gain. The senior end caught three passes for 60 yards in Friday's tilt with Franklin Heights.

Tom Fletcher, in his only carry of the night, was stopped at the line of scrimmage.

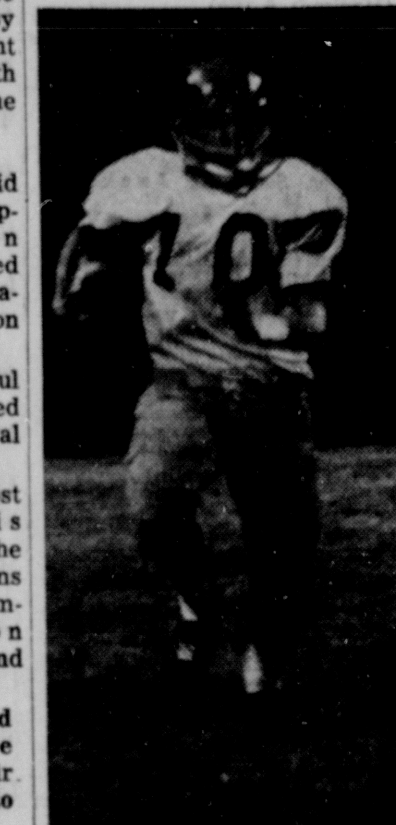

The Tigers completely fooled the Falcons on the next play. With their defense stacked to stop a running play, Bryant slipped unnoticed into the end zone and caught a pass from Tootle for the second TD of the game. Eddie Wells ran the ball in for the conversion and with 10:47 to go in the second period, the Tigers led, 14-0.

The third Tiger touchdown was set up when Dade intercepted a pass near the 36 where he was tackled almost immediately.

But a personal foul penalty gave the Tigers a first down on the Franklin Heights 21 yard line.

Tootle fumbled the ball, but it was recovered by Dade for a seven yard loss. On the next play, Tootle was dumped for a one-yard loss.

TOOTLE then hit Dade with a pass that covered 29 yards for a touchdown. Wells ran the two extra points and the score stood at 22-0 with 3:15 to go. And that's the way it was at halftime.

QE LANDIS — D. Landis, leader of the Franklin Heights Falcons, gains speed as he scrambles looking for receivers. Landis hit on seven of 20 aerials last night for an 87-yard total.

Starting the second half, the Tigers took the kickoff and marched 61 yards in nine plays.

Two of the big plays were passes from Tootle to Bryant. One was an interference call that picked up 24 yards and gave the Tigers a first down the Falcons 36. The second covered 19 yards.

Dade ran the final three yards for the touchdown with just 7:08 remaining the third quarter. Tootle hit Bryant in the end zone for the conversion.

That was the final scoring action for the Tigers.

Franklin Heights' only touchdown came with 8:12 to go in the fourth quarter. Jim Malone intercepted a pass near midfield and ran untouched into the end zone.

The game was marked by interceptions. Circleville came up with four big ones, three by Dade and one by Wright.

Five straight IC4A cross country championships were won by the Kennedys of Michigan State. Henry Kennedy won the title in 1955 and 1956. His brother Fordy won the title the next three years.

Washington Edged, 7-6, By Panthers

Weather Halts Three South Central Ohio League Grid Teams

The Washington C. H. Blue Lions lost a squeaker to visiting Pleasant View, 7-6, after numerous scoring attempts late in the game were foiled.

The tilt was one of two involving SCO League teams. Wilmington, Greenfield and Miami Trace all had schedule changes.

Wilmington will play this afternoon at Hamilton Fairfield. Greenfield hosts Hamilton Twp. in a clash tonight. The game between Trace and Bishop Ready was cancelled.

Washington scored the second period when Lowell Harper crashed through for three yards. The extra point run was nullified by a penalty, the most important of the game.

PANTHER quarterback Charley Hess tossed 18 passes and hit on 12 for 202 yards. But the knotting TD came when Hess trotted for 15 yards into the Lion end zone.

Mike Daum calmly iced the cake with the extra point kick for Pleasant View.

In the third period Harper, striving for the winning score, was jarred loose from the ball on the Panther two-yard stripe. The pigskin bounded into the end zone and Pleasant View recovered.

The Mighty Mites made a stab at victory early in the fourth quarter but were stopped on downs on the one-foot line. Later in the finale they reached the 16-yard stripe where Pleasant View picked off a Washington pass to end the threat.

Washington ground out 192 yards rushing and passed for 46 yards on five of 11 aerials.

Panther ace Hess moved the ball for 274 yards, 202 through the air and 72 on the ground.

The Plains Hold Top Unit To 6-6 Tie

The Plains of Mt. Sterling, seeking at least a second place finish in the Darby Valley League battled to a 6-6 deadlock Friday with front running Mechanicsburg.

Mechanicsburg stands 8-0-1 in loop play while the Blue Devils own a 5-1-2 league slate. Jonathan Alder is the only team that could drop Mt. Sterling from the runnerup spot.

Dave Bostick scored on an eight-yard run for Mechanicsburg. The two point conversion try was missed and the half ended with Mechanicsburg up six.

In the third quarter The Plains roared back and Rick Holland capitalized on a one-yard plunge. The extra point run failed.

LATE in the fourth quarter the Blue Devils sparked a drive that died with the clock on the two-yard stripe.

Statistics proved the game close. Mechanicsburg had 14 first downs on 197 total yards. Quarterbacks hit on three of eight passes.

For Mt. Sterling 206 yards netted 10 first downs. Holland completed nine of 15 passes for the Blue Devils.

The Plains travels to Westfall next week for a final clash of the season.

Tom Hamman Cage Hopeful At Marietta

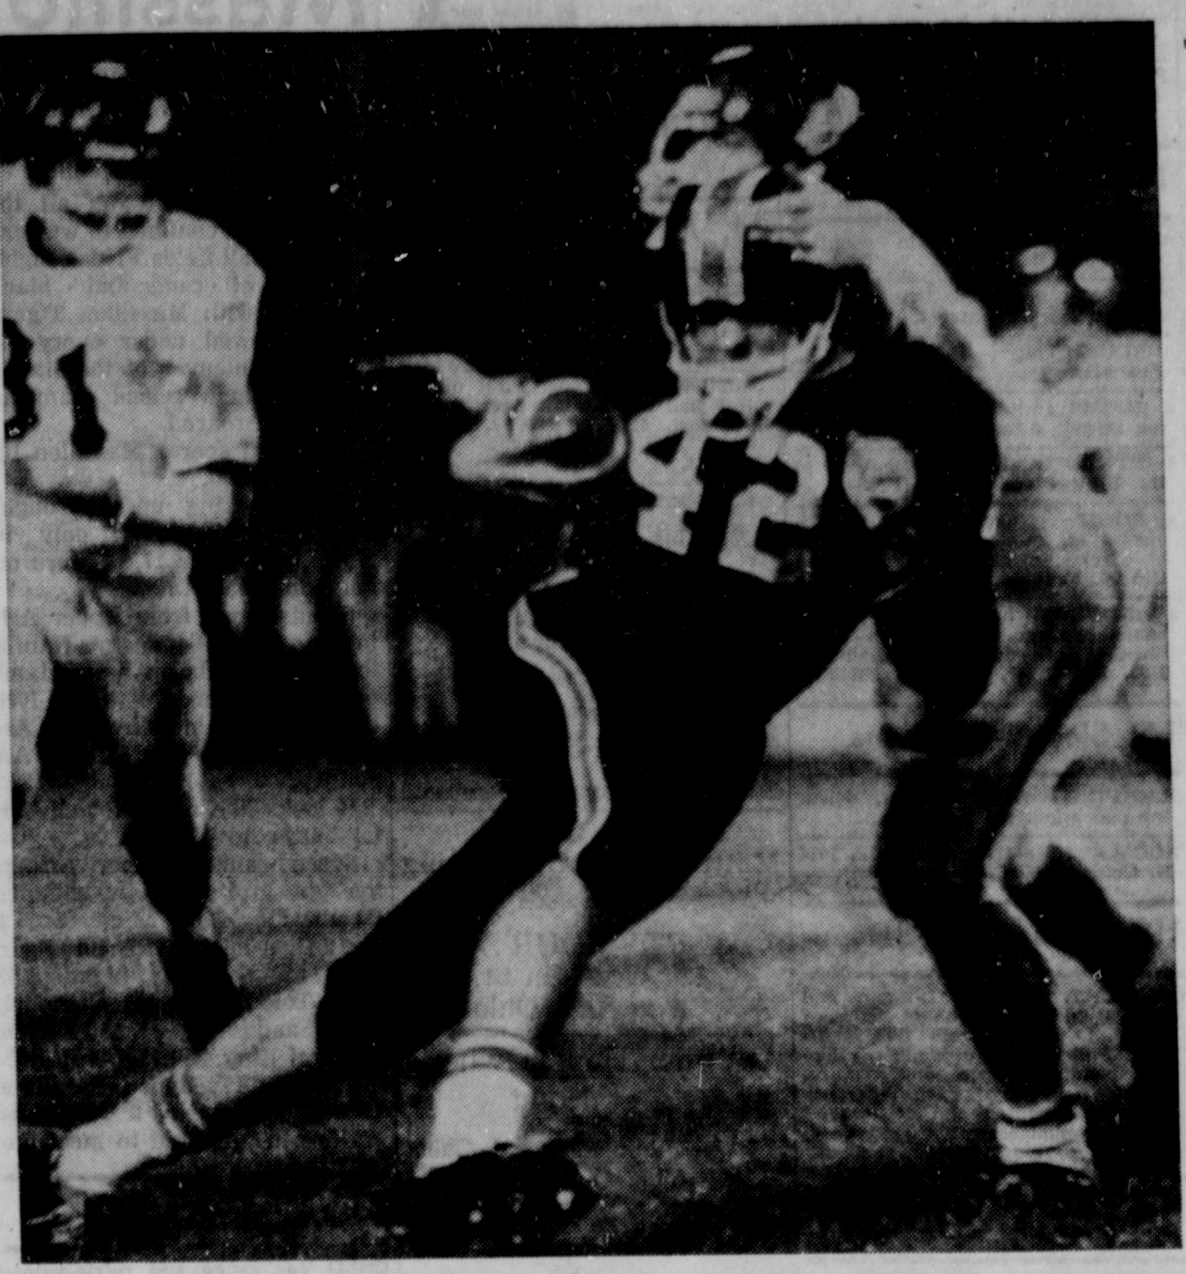

Tom Hamman, a graduate of Westfall High School, is a freshman candidate for the Marietta College basketball team.

Hamman is one of 19 frosh listed on the Marietta Roster. In addition to frosh candidates, there are 17 cagers trying out for the varsity, including seven lettermen from last year's 15-10 team.

Coach at Marietta College is Don Kelley.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamman III of Williamsport, the 5-10 cager played guard on the Mustangs' Scioto Valley Conference championship team last year.

Westfall also won the Teays Valley Sectional.

TOOTLE RAMBLES — Bob Tootle (42), Tiger quarterback, throws his shoulder into the action as he fights out of the pocket. When not running, the junior starter completed five of 15 passes, three to his favorite target end Ron Bryant.

Teays Valley Scores Easily In 53-0 Romp over Westfall

Teays Valley rolled to a 53-0 win over visiting Westfall Friday in the final game of the season for the Vikings.

With only 22 players dressed for the game, Viking coach Marion Waits used virtually every combination of gridders possible. His team still scored with ease.

The first Teays Valley tally came when Sid Leming nailed Jim Minor in the end zone on a punt attempt for a safety.

The second quarter saw the Vikings explode for 35 points. Halfway through the period, Waits began shifting his lineup around.

IN THE third period, he went with an all senior unit. The fourth period was with an all underclass unit.

Greg Hall scored three of the Viking touchdowns. He went 45 yards on a pass interception and was on the receiving end of a pair of passes from Daft. One of the aerials covered 45 yards and the other 35 yards.

Tim Wells picked up two touchdowns for the Vikings on a 30-yard run and a 12-yard pass from Ron Leatherwood, who normally plays end for the Vikings.

Bruce Reese scored twice, once from 10 yards out and again from eight yards.

Mike Lombardo picked up a touchdown when he was on the receiving end of a 32-yard pass from Reese.

Wells scored one conversion running and kicked an extra point.

The Westfall unit penetrated three times to the Viking non-yard line. But the Mustangs were hit by hard luck on each occasion and couldn't get the ball across the goal line.

WINLESS in eight starts this season, the Mustangs have one game remaining on their schedule. On Friday they host The Plains of Mt. Sterling, a traditional foe.

The Plains tied Mechanicsburg last night in Darby Valley action to gain second place in the league.

THE BRAVES dropped into a punt formation but a high pass from center could not be handled by Moorehead.

Paint Valley recovered the ball and pushed on into the end zone with Whitt covering the last six yards.

From that point until less than a minute remained in the game, Logan Elm retained possession of the ball.

In other action involving Scioto Valley Conference schools, Unioto shutout the Chillicothe reserves, 40-0, and Piketon rolled to a 24-6 decision over Minford.

Middleweight Title Bout Rescheduled

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith injured his right foot in training and his title defense against Joey Archer at Madison Square Garden Nov. 20 was postponed today until Jan. 23.

John Condon, the boxing publicity director for the Garden, said the champion turned his right ankle in a boxing drill Thursday but that it appeared all right at the time and he finished his workout.

"But during the night the ankle stiffened and trainer-manager Gil Clancy put the foot in ice," said Condon.

It was the second postponement of the return fight. They originally were scheduled to meet at the Garden on Oct. 21 but Archer became ill with a virus and the bout was postponed.

Athletic Directors Steve Sebo of Virginia, Dan Devine of Missouri and Forest Evashevski of Iowa were former assistant football coaches to Biggie Munn at Michigan State.

Tiger Pointers

The Circleville victory bell in Barthelmas Memorial Tower experienced a good workout this year. With five home games, it was rung after each one.

The bell and structure, a project of the class of 1965, was donated by the Dowden family. The tower was built by the William Barthelmas family as a memorial to their son, Capt. William J. Barthelmas, who was killed in Viet Nam. He was a former Tiger grid star.

Tiger end Jim Campbell will have a couple of bed partners for a month. The lanky junior couldn't quite hang on to three aerials tossed his way during the game.

After the tilt, Tiger coach Paul Starr gave Campbell two footballs, one for each arm, with instructions that he is to sleep, eat and walk with the balls for a month.

"I don't suppose it was a very exciting ball game to fans, but it sure was to me," coach Starr said after the game.

"Steve ran well, Bobby threw well and Ron caught well," he commented. "Our defensive backs did a good job with four interceptions."

"I don't know what else to say except it was cold."

"The footing was bad out there and I guess we looked slower than we have all year. But then we should have been slower with all of the long underwear everybody was wearing, the likeable coach explained. "Reynoldsburg is much better than this team. They have a whole lot of offense," he added in the way of looking forward to next week's game.

Circleville gained 195 yards rushing and 106 passing for a total of 301 yards. Franklin Heights came up with 87 yards through the air and 73 rushing for a total of 160.

Dade carried the brunt of the Tiger attack, picking up 97 yards. Wells gained 39 and Tommy Wright gained 17.

For Franklin Heights, Malone was the leading ball carrier. He gained 69 yards most of it coming on a trap play up the middle that worked real well for the visitors in the first half. However, in the second period the Tiger defense made some adjustments and stopped the Franklin Heights ground game fairly effectively.

The crowd wasn't too large and a lot of Circleville fans left shortly after the third quarter began.

But a familiar pair of Tiger tam-o-shanters, worn by Gene Hansen and Don Hannahs stuck it out to the end. The two CHS fans wore the tams to every home game this fall.

Bill Stout, who has been doing the announcing for Circleville home games for quite a few years, had a little trouble last night when the PA system developed a malfunction. But Stout touched something, and

Parking was no problem whatsoever. Despite the fact the practice field was too wet, there turned out to be plenty of space on the paved area and at the end of the football field where the sod was dry enough to hold cars.

Next week the Tigers end their season with a trip to Reynoldsburg, one of the co-champions of the South Suburban League.

It was parents night at Tiger field. In pre-game ceremonies, players, managers and cheerleaders were introduced, along with their parents.

Most of the Tiger gridders will be back again next year.

Starting seniors on this year's team included Tom Fletcher and Jim Noel on defense. A regular offensive starter was Ron Bryant.

The only other seniors to play this year were John Wills and Tom Jenkins.

Coming back next year are the likes of Tom Wright, Bob Tootle, Steve Dade, Eddie Wells, Lynn Heath, Steve Carroll, Dick Thornton, Jim Samuel, Jerry Myers, Steve Barthelmas, Don Cordel, Bill Gates, Jim Campbell, Rod Sines, Craig Lambert all of whom saw a lot of action this past year. All of these boys played a key role in the Tiger's successful season.

B-W, Heidelberg Grid Tilt Canceled

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — The Baldwin-Wallace vs. Heidelberg football game scheduled here today was canceled because heavy snows left the field in unplayable condition.

Eastern Michigan at Ohio Northern, in Ada, meanwhile was postponed from today to Nov. 19.

QB LANDIS — D. Landis, leader of the Franklin Heights Falcons, gains speed as he scrambles looking for receivers. Landis hit on seven of 20 aeriels last night for an 87-yard total.

Starting the second half, the Tigers took the kickoff and marched 61 yards in nine plays.

Two of the big plays were passes from Tootle to Bryant. One was an interference call that picked up 24 yards and gave the Tigers a first down the Falcons 36. The second covered 19 yards.

Dade ran the final three yards for the touchdown with just 7:08 remaining the third quarter. Tootle hit Bryant in the end zone for the conversion.

That was the final scoring action for the Tigers.

Franklin Heights' only touchdown came with 8:12 to go in the fourth quarter. Jim Malone intercepted a pass near midfield and ran untouched into the end zone.

The game was marked by interceptions. Circleville came up with four big ones, three by Dade and one by Wright.

Five straight IC4A cross country championships were won by the Kennedys of Michigan State. Henry Kennedy won the title in 1955 and 1956. His brother Fordy won the title the next three years.

Washington Edged, 7-6, By Panthers

Weather Halts Three South Central Ohio League Grid Teams

The Washington C. H. Blue Lions lost a squeaker to visiting Pleasant View, 7-6, after numerous scoring attempts late in the game were foiled.

The tilt was one of two involving SCO League teams. Wilmington, Greenfield and Miami Trace all had schedule changes.

Wilmington will play this afternoon at Hamilton Fairfield. Greenfield hosts Hamilton Twp. in a clash tonight. The game between Trace and Bishop Ready was cancelled.

Washington scored the second period when Lowell Harper crashed through for three yards. The extra point run was nullified by a penalty, the most important of the game.

PANTHER quarterback Charley Hess tossed 18 passes and hit on 12 for 202 yards. But the knotting TD came when Hess trotted for 15 yards into the Lion end zone.

Mike Daum calmly iced the cake with the extra point kick for Pleasant View.

In the third period Harper, striving for the winning score, was jarred loose from the ball on the Panther two-yard stripe. The pigskin bounded into the end zone and Pleasant View recovered.

The Mighty Mites made a stab at victory early in the fourth quarter but were stopped on downs on the one-foot line. Later in the finale they reached the 16-yard stripe where Pleasant View picked off a Washington pass to end the threat.

Washington ground out 192 yards rushing and passed for 46 yards on five of 11 aeriels.

Panther ace Hess moved the ball for 274 yards, 202 through the air and 72 on the ground.

The Plains Hold Top Unit To 6-6 Tie

The Plains of Mt. Sterling, seeking at least a second place finish in the Darby Valley League battled to a 6-6 deadlock Friday with front running Mechanicsburg.

Mechanicsburg stands 8-0-1 in loop play while the Blue Devils own a 5-1-2 league slate. Jonathan Alder is the only team that could drop Mt. Sterling from the runnerup spot.

Dave Bostick scored on an eight-yard run for Mechanicsburg. The two point conversion try was missed and the half ended with Mechanicsburg up six.

In the third quarter The Plains roared back and Rick Holland capitalized on a one-yard plunge. The extra point run failed.

LATE in the fourth quarter the Blue Devils sparked a drive that died with the clock on the two-yard stripe.

Statistics proved the game close. Mechanicsburg had 14 first downs on 197 total yards. Quarterbacks hit on three of eight passes.

For Mt. Sterling 206 yards netted 10 first downs. Holland completed nine of 15 passes for the Blue Devils.

The Plains travels to Westfall next week for a final clash of the season.

Tom Hamman Cage Hopeful At Marietta

Tom Hamman, a graduate of Westfall High School, is a freshman candidate for the Marietta College basketball team.

Hamman is one of 19 frosh listed on the Marietta Roster. In addition to frosh candidates, there are 17 cagers trying out for the varsity, including seven lettermen from last year's 15-10 team.

Coach at Marietta College is Don Kelley.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamman III of Williamsport, the 5-10 cager played guard on the Mustangs' Scioto Valley Conference championship team last year.

Westfall also won the Teays Valley Sectional.

TOOTLE RAMBLES — Bob Tootle (42), Tiger quarterback, throws his shoulder into the action as he fights out of the pocket. When not running, the junior starter completed five of 15 passes, three to his favorite target end Ron Bryant.

Teays Valley Scores Easily In 53-0 Romp over Westfall

Teays Valley rolled to a 53-0 win over visiting Westfall Friday in the final game of the season for the Vikings.

With only 22 players dressed for the game, Viking coach Marion Waits used virtually every combination of gridders possible. His team still scored with ease.

The first Teays Valley tally came when Sid Leming nailed Jim Minor in the end zone on a punt attempt for a safety.

The second quarter saw the Vikings explode for 35 points. Halfway through the period, Waits began shifting his lineup around.

IN THE third period, he went with an all senior unit. The fourth period was with an all underclass unit.

Greg Hall scored three of the Viking touchdowns. He went 45 yards on a pass interception and was on the receiving end of a pair of passes from Daft. One of the aeriels covered 45 yards and the other 35 yards.

Tim Wells picked up two touchdowns for the Vikings on a 30-yard run and a 12-yard pass from Ron Leatherwood, who normally plays end for the Vikings.

Bruce Roese scored twice, once from 10 yards out and again from eight yards.

Mike Lombardo picked up a touchdown when he was on the receiving end of a 32-yard pass from Roese.

Wells scored one conversion running and kicked an extra point.

The Westfall unit penetrated three times to the Viking non-yard line. But the Mustangs were hit by hard luck on each occasion and couldn't get the ball across the goal line.

WINLESS in eight starts this season, the Mustangs have one game remaining on their schedule. On Friday they host The Plains of Mt. Sterling, a traditional foe.

The Plains tied Mechanicsburg last night in Darby Valley action to gain second place in the league.

THE BRAVES dropped into a punt formation but a high pass from center could not be handled by Moorehead.

Paint Valley recovered the ball and pushed on into the end zone with Whitt covering the last six yards.

From that point until less than a minute remained in the game, Logan Elm retained possession of the ball.

In other action involving Scioto Valley Conference schools, Unioto shutout the Chillicothe reserves, 40-0, and Piketon rolled to a 24-6 decision over Minford.

Middleweight Title Bout Rescheduled

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Middleweight champion Emile Griffith injured his right foot in training and his title defense against Joey Archer at Madison Square Garden Nov. 10 was postponed today until Jan. 23.

John Condon, the boxing publicity director for the Garden, said the champion turned his right ankle in a boxing drill Thursday but that it appeared all right at the time and he finished his workout.

"But during the night the ankle stiffened and trainer-co-manager Gil Clancy put the foot in ice," said Condon.

It was the second postponement of the return fight. They originally were scheduled to meet at the Garden on Oct. 21 but Archer became ill with a virus and the bout was postponed.

Athletic Directors Steve Sebo of Virginia, Dan Devine of Missouri and Forest Evashevski of Iowa were former assistant football coaches to Biggie Munn at Michigan State.

The Circleville Herald, Sat. Nov. 5, 1966
Circleville, Ohio

Tiger Pointers

The Circleville victory bell in Barthelmas Memorial Tower experienced a good workout this year. With five home games, it was rung after each one.

The bell and structure, a project of the class of 1965, was donated by the Dowden family. The tower was built by the William Barthelmas family as a memorial to their son, Capt. William J. Barthelmas, who was killed in Viet Nam. He was a former Tiger grid star.

Tiger end Jim Campbell will have a couple of bed partners for a month. The lanky junior couldn't quite hang on to three aeriels tossed his way during the game.

After the tilt, Tiger coach Paul Starr gave Campbell two footballs, one for each arm, with instructions that he is to sleep, eat and walk with the balls for a month.

"I don't suppose it was a very exciting ball game to fans, but it sure was to me," coach Starr said after the game.

"Steve ran well, Bobby threw well and Ron caught well," he commented. "Our defensive backs did a good job with four interceptions."

"I don't know what else to say except it was cold."

"The footing was bad out there and I guess we looked slower than we have all year. But then we should have been slower with all of the long underwear everybody was wearing, the likeable coach explained. 'Reynoldsburg is much better than this team. They have a whole lot of offense,' he added in the way of looking forward to next week's game.

Circleville gained 195 yards rushing and 105 passing for a total of 301 yards. Franklin Heights came up with 87 yards through the air and 73 rushing for a total of 160.

Dade carried the brunt of the Tiger attack, picking up 97 yards. Wells gained 39 and Tommy Wright gained 17.

For Franklin Heights, Malone was the leading ball carrier. He gained 69 yards most of it coming on a trap play up the middle that worked real well for the visitors in the first half. However, in the second period the Tiger defense made some adjustments and stopped the Franklin Heights ground game fairly effectively.

The crowd wasn't too large and a lot of Circleville fans left shortly after the third quarter began.

But a familiar pair of Tiger tam-o-shanters, worn by Gene Hansen and Don Hannahs stuck it out to the end. The two CHS fans wore the tams to every home game this fall.

Bill Stout, who has been doing the announcing for Circleville home games for quite a few years, had a little trouble last night when the PA system developed a malfunction. But Stout touched something, and the system began working again. He is not sure what he did.

Parking was no problem whatsoever. Despite the fact the practice field was too wet, there turned out to be plenty of space on the paved area and at the end of the football field where the sod was dry enough to hold cars.

Next week the Tigers end their season with a trip to Reynoldsburg, one of the co-champions of the South Suburban League.

It was parents night at Tiger field. In pre-game ceremonies, players, managers and cheerleaders were introduced, along with their parents.

Most of the Tiger gridgers will be back again next year.

Starting seniors on this year's team included Tom Fletcher and Jim Noel on defense. A regular offensive starter was Ron Bryant.

The only other seniors to play this year were John Wills and Tom Jenkins.

Coming back next year are the likes of Tom Wright, Bob Tootle, Steve Dade, Eddie Wells, Lynn Heath, Steve Carroll, Dick Thornton, Jim Samuel, Jerry Myers, Steve Barthelmas, Don Cordel, Bill Gates, Jim Campbell, Rod Sines, Craig Lambert all of whom saw a lot of action this past year. All of these boys played a key role in the Tiger's successful season.

B-W, Heidelberg Grid Tilt Canceled

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP) — The Baldwin-Wallace vs. Heidelberg football game scheduled here today was canceled because heavy snows left the field in unplayable condition.

Eastern Michigan at Ohio Northern, in Ada, meanwhile was postponed from today to Nov. 19.

In 1955, Sam Boulmetis set a record by winning 81 races during the Monmouth Park thoroughbred meeting at Oceanport, N. J.

Packers Face Worthy Foe In Tarkenton

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Writer

Bart Starr may be scrambling with Fran Tarkenton Sunday when Minnesota's improving defense tests the potent Green Bay Packers in the National Football League northland.

Tarkenton, the NFL's hottest quarterback in recent weeks, figures to lead the Western Division-leading Packers a merry chase at Green Bay. And the Viking defenders, who came of age last week, promise to make the going rough for Green Bay's backfield directed by Starr and bolstered by the return of Paul Hornung.

In throttling San Francisco 28-3 last Sunday, the Vikings did not permit a touchdown for the first time since they entered the NFL in 1961. Meanwhile, Tarkenton fired two touchdown passes, ran for two more and gained a total of 349 yards.

The scurrying signal-caller has completed 74.7 per cent of his passes in the Vikings' last three games, throwing for 836 yards and seven touchdowns. Minnesota won two of those three, dropping a three-point decision to Baltimore in between, for a 2-1 season mark.

Despite Tarkenton, the Packers, 7-1, rate a 10-point choice to handle Minnesota for the 10th time in 11 meetings. The Packers' defense, anchored by Ray Nitschke and Willie Davis, has yielded only 10 points in three straight victories.

Starr, who hit on 11 of 13 pass attempts against Detroit last week, is the league's No. 1 fliker. Hornung is available after missing two games with a neck injury.

The Colts, trailing Green Bay by 1½ games in the Western race, entertain the Washington Redskins in the day's interconference duel. St. Louis' Eastern Division leaders are at New York, Dallas' high-scoring Cowboys at Philadelphia, the Cleveland Browns at Pittsburgh, the Detroit Lions at Chicago, and the Los Angeles Rams at San Francisco.

In the American Football League, San Diego is at Kansas City. Buffalo at Miami, Denver at Boston and Houston at Oakland.

Baltimore's Johnny Unitas, who set an all-time record for lifetime passing yardage last Sunday, may prove too much for the Redskins, who have won five of their last six to remain in contention in the East at 5-3. The Colts, 5-2, have won three in a row and have beaten Washington six straight times.

The Cardinals, who moved one-half game ahead of Dallas last Monday by trimming Chicago 24-17, may find a breather in the injury-riddled Giants, but they are expecting trouble. New York led all the way in their first meeting before a Charlie Johnson-Billy Gambrell touchdown pass pulled out a 24-19 victory for the Cards in the closing minutes.

Dallas, led by quarterback Don Meredith, throws the league's No. 1 offense and No. 2 defense against the Eagles in a rematch of last month's 56-7 Cowboy romp. Meredith leads the NFL with 19 touchdown passes and Dan Reeves tops the individual scoring parade with 11 TDs for 66 points.

The Browns, who have won four in a row in a bid to retain their Eastern crown, are heavy favorites to extend Pittsburgh's losing streak to six. Cleveland won the first meeting 41-10 and buried Atlanta 49-17 last week as Frank Ryan passed for four scores.

Karl Sweetan, the rookie quarterback who passed for 271 yards last week against the Packers, carries Detroit hopes for a repeat of its season-opening upset over the Bears. Dick Butkus who sat out most of Monday night's loss to St. Louis with a pulled leg muscle, returns to bulwark Chicago's defensive brigade.

The 49ers will be out to reverse an early 34-3 loss to Los Angeles while the Rams will be bucking a three-game slide. Neither team could muster a touchdown drive in losing last Sunday but the LA attack led by Dick Bass and Tommy McDonald, may carry the day.

Richey Representing U.S. in Davis Match

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — In a surprise move, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., was to represent the United States today in the opening match of the inter-zone Davis Cup tennis semifinal against Brazil.

The 19-year-old schoolboy was to play Edson Mandarin. Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., America's top-ranked player, was to play Brazilian ace Thomas Koch in the second match.

Peter Kimener, an end from Arlington, Va., is captain of the Holy Cross football team.

A NAME TO REMEMBER—That would be Hank Greenberg (top), the former baseball star who is watching the recent game between Yale and Dartmouth at New Haven—and particularly his son, Glenn (No. 73 below), one of Yale's tackles. Glenn tried baseball but does better in football.

Miami to Face Tricky Tulane

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Writer

Miami, which upset Southern California a week ago, is being urged by its coach to remember a couple of other upsets.

The Hurricanes are favored to trounce Tulane in New Orleans tonight, but Coach Charlie Tate is reminding his squad that it was favored over the Green Wave the last two times the clubs met and was beaten both times.

Miami has lost only to Florida State and Louisiana State this season, the highpoint being reached last week when the Hurricanes knocked off the nationally-ranked Trojans.

Tulane is having its best season in a long time, having compiled a 5-2 record under new ranks seventh in total defense statistics and Tulane is second in the nation in rushing.

Elsewhere tonight, Oklahoma State plays Texas Tech, Arizona is at Utah and Houston meets Tulsa.

All the nation's nationally ranked teams played this afternoon with top-rated Notre Dame taking on Pittsburgh and Michigan State, the No. 2 team, meeting Iowa.

UCLA, No. 3, played Washington; Alabama, ranked fourth, met LSU; Georgia Tech, No. 5 tangled with Virginia; Nebraska rated sixth, met Kansas; Florida, No. 7, played Georgia; eighth-ranked Arkansas played Rice; Southern California, No. 9, played California, and Tennessee, No. 10, played Chattanooga.

Other games on the schedule were Army-George Washington Baylor-Texas, Brown-Cornell, Clemson-North Carolina and Dartmouth-Columbia.

Kentucky-Vanderbilt, Michigan-Illinois, Mississippi State-Navy-Duke New Mexico Colorado State, North Carolina, State-Maryland, Northwestern-Minnesota, Ohio State - Indiana, Oklahoma-Kansas State, Oregon State-Arizona, Oregon-Washington State and Penn State-Syracuse.

Penn-Yale, Princeton-Harvard, South Carolina-Florida, South Carolina-Florida Forest - Virginia Tech, Wichita State-Wyoming and Wisconsin-Purdue.

Chargers, Chiefs in AFL 'Key'

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Writer

Boston's burly Jim Nance has burst through opposing American Football League lines for 753 yards this season. The Patriots would have you believe he's the top rusher in the league.

But you'll never persuade Kansas City that it doesn't have the AFL's top running threat everytime Len Dawson hands off to his halfback.

Sometimes the man with the ball is Bert Coan and other times it's Mike Garrett. They share the Chiefs' halfback job, and together have produced more yardage than Boston's Nance.

Garrett, the Heisman Trophy winner who cost the Chiefs an estimated $300,000, has gained 405 yards — fourth best figure in the league.

Coan, the veteran starter, has gained 381 yards — fifth best.

The Chiefs' halfback twins figure to see plenty of action Sunday when Kansas City defends its slim one-half game Western Division lead against runner-up San Diego in the AFL's key game.

Meanwhile, Nance hopes to increase his wide rushing lead — individual, not two-man division — against hapless Denver as the Patriots entertain the Broncos.

In other games, Buffalo, trailing the Pats by one-half game in the East, visits Miami and old friend Cookie Gilchrist while Houston's George Blanda tests the league's best passing defense at Oakland.

Plane Carrying Harvard Team Has Landing Trouble

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — An Eastern Airlines shuttle plane carrying most of the Harvard football team developed a hydraulic system leak Friday and was unable to lower its landing gear until just before landing at Newark Airport.

Jack Sheehan, a Boston Herald sports writer who was aboard the plane, said the flight carried Coach John Yovicsin and the starting backfield as well as other team members and a few assistant coaches, 120 persons in all.

About a dozen emergency vehicles lined the runway as the super constellation landed.

The flight left Logan International Airport in Boston for the flight to New Jersey, where the undefeated Crimson was to play Princeton today.

ROY H. HUFFER, JR.
State Representative from Pickaway County

Without reservation, Roy H. Huffer, Jr. endorses Myrl H. Shoemaker for State Representative.

I served with Myrl H. Shoemaker in the last legislature and my decision to endorse him was reached because of his record, his experience and his legislative ability.

It is most important under our reapportioned legislature that we have a representative with as much experience as possible for our rural county to offset the power the big cities have under reapportionment. Myrl H. Shoemaker has served for four (4) consecutive terms in the Ohio House of Representatives. Eighteen enactments that were sponsored or co-sponsored by Shoemaker during the last legislature is proof of his legislative ability. It is quite possible Representative Shoemaker may be considered for minority or majority leader in the next legislature.

Napoleon's a Cool One, Even Off the TV Screen

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The aplomb with which Robert Vaughn plays Napoleon Solo on "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." is not entirely due to the actor's craft. He is a cool one off the screen as well.

You get the impression from the meticulously groomed Vaughn that he could handle any situation, whether it's the latest perfidy of THERUSH or the taunts of hecklers who attack his real-life opposition to the Viet Nam war. He is articulate and well-read, without the pretentiousness of actors who are Johnny-come-latelies to matters of the intellect.

Vaughn has all the answers on matters concerning his career. Does he chafe under servitude to a television series?

"Not at all," he replied artfully. David (McCallum, his sidekick Illya) and I were discussing our lot last Friday as we watched the show on television. We both agreed that we were lucky to have the show.

"Before 'U.N.C.L.E.' we were both moderately well-known actors. The series not only made us prominent but gave us a bargaining power. The extent of that bargaining power was demonstrated when I did a feature, 'The Venetian Affair,' last summer. In 10 weeks I earned as much as I earn in 10 months in television."

Vaughn said both he and McCallum expect to remain in the series five years, which he now figures to be its life expectancy — "If a series can go into its third season with good ratings as we are doing, it's a pretty safe bet it can last two more."

His contract ends after five years, and then he would try his luck as a star of features.

But what about the long-time argument that movie audiences won't pay to see heroes they have watched for long seasons on television? Vaughn has an answer for that one, too. "Yes it's true that only three have made it—James Garner, Steve McQueen and Dick Van Dyke, though Van Dyke is not proven yet. I feel that I might have a good chance because I don't play a definite occupation in the series. If I were a lawyer or a doctor or a cowboy, I might become more firmly entrenched in the public mind as a certain 'character.'"

Now It's The Jersey Bounce!

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The flat-chested female is out of style. So is the miss who constricts her natural endowments.

The jersey bounce is in — those softly rounded, unconfined curves wrapped in stretchy wool that captures the subtleties of body movement.

The designers showing their spring collections to buyers this week are placing their full fashion approval on a soft silhouette.

Rudi Gernreich, inventor of the no-bra which does little more than give a wearer the comfortable complacency of having complied with the tradition of undergarments, recently opened his knitwear collection with a respectable number of jersey bouncers.

Quite respectable too were the jersey misses in Jacques Tiffau's collection this week. Soft curves undulated tenuously under jersey maillot-like overblouses which were belted under the bosom, V-necked, waist-wrapped jersey dresses, as well as quiet colored shifts with blazing scarfs at the shoulders or throats.

At Bonnie Cashin's springtime collection Thursday, her curvy little jersey girls were as sweet as sugar and just as refined.

3 Ohio Youths Die in Crash

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP) — Three young men were killed Friday when their car crashed through a barricade at a construction site south of here and plunged down an embankment, the Highway Patrol said.

The patrol identified the victims as Terry Mahn, 21, of Fremont; and Edward F. Bennett, 19, and Denis E. Wilson, 22 both of Clyde.

The three were apparently out for a day of duck hunting, the patrol said.

The car struck the barricade at an incomplete overpass for Ohio 4 over Norfolk and Western Railroad tracks, the patrol said.
